Larger Patrols Battle at Front

PARIS (CP)—The western front sprang to life today, after days of calm, with reinforced patrols fighting brisk engagements on the northern flank.

This was revealed in a high command communiqué issued shortly after Premier Daladier had announced he would call parliament into extraordinary session the second week of November to approve financial credits for the war.

The communiqué described activity on the front as "marked" after a series of "communes" which listed calm days and nights broken only by slight patrol activity.

SOLDIERS SEEK MATRIC RATING

The Army and Navy Veterans of Canada, British Columbia command will ask the provincial government to grant matriculation certificates to members of the active service force who have completed three years of high school.

The veterans took the suggestion of delegate T. R. Wheaton of Victoria at their quarterly meeting in New Westminster Saturday that the present four-year high school course be shortened one year for army men unable to complete their fourth year.

Delegates favored the immediate organization and training of an expeditionary force and expressed themselves as being in favor of conscription of manpower and natural resources.

Church Statement On War Checked Up

TORONTO (CP)—Attorney-General Gordon Conant has ordered an investigation of the manifesto issued by 75 clergymen of the United Church, disapproving of "this or any other war" as "incompatible with the Christian spirit and aims."

The provincial minister, it was stated today, has instructed Clifford Magone, K.C., to study the manifesto and determine whether it contravenes section 39 of the Defence of Canada Act.

"If this comes under the section I shall seriously consider prosecution, but until I have the report of Mr. Magone I cannot state definitely what action I shall take," said the Attorney-General.

"Punishment is the best word that I can think of to describe their action," he added.

British Planes Bomb U-boats; One Direct Hit

LONDON (CP)—Royal Air Force planes made two attacks on U-boats—both "believed to have been successful"—the Air Ministry announced today.

The announcement said one attack "took place in the North Sea and the other in the Atlantic, many miles from the aircraft's bases."

"After both attacks the pilots remained circling above the places where the submarines disappeared and nothing more was seen of the U-boats," said the communiqué.

The announcement of the attacks, which were made "recently," came shortly after British naval authorities announced German U-boat attacks on Allied shipping had again become "considerable."

It also followed reports of the unexplained sinking of two more British vessels. Fourteen persons were reported missing after the 1,692-ton steamship Whittemantle went down in the North Sea. Five survivors were landed at a British east coast port. The crew of 25 was saved when the 2,327-ton coastal vessel Sea Venture sank after an explosion.

The following is the pilot's report of the North Sea attack:

"A reconnaissance aircraft sighted and attacked a submarine in position. A salvo of anti-submarine bombs were dropped ahead of the periscope. The submarine dived steeply."

"The airgunner said definitely that he noticed a second underwater explosion after the explosion of these bombs. The aircraft then turned about, flew over the submarine a second time, and dropped a second salvo. Patches of oil were observed after the first salvo and more extensively after the second attack."

"Nothing more was seen of the U-boat."

"The pilot of the Atlantic patrol aircraft said:

"An enemy submarine was sighted some distance away. It dived and several heavy bombs were dropped on it. The first is thought to have been a direct hit. Dark objects appeared in the water after the attack, and air bubbles rose to the surface."

"A second bombing attack was made as near the same position as possible."

"We circled over the area for some time, but nothing further was observed."

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Danish fishing boats reported today they had picked up bodies of 29 men from the German mine-field guardship Este 7, which exploded Saturday off Moen Island.

At the same time, King Christian commended in a telegram two Danish airplane pilots who braved the mined waters and a heavy sea to rescue four survivors. A fifth saved himself after a 10-hour swim.

The four rescued were transferred from a raft to the plane after it had alighted nearby. They clung to the wings until a fishing boat, summoned by another plane, picked them up.

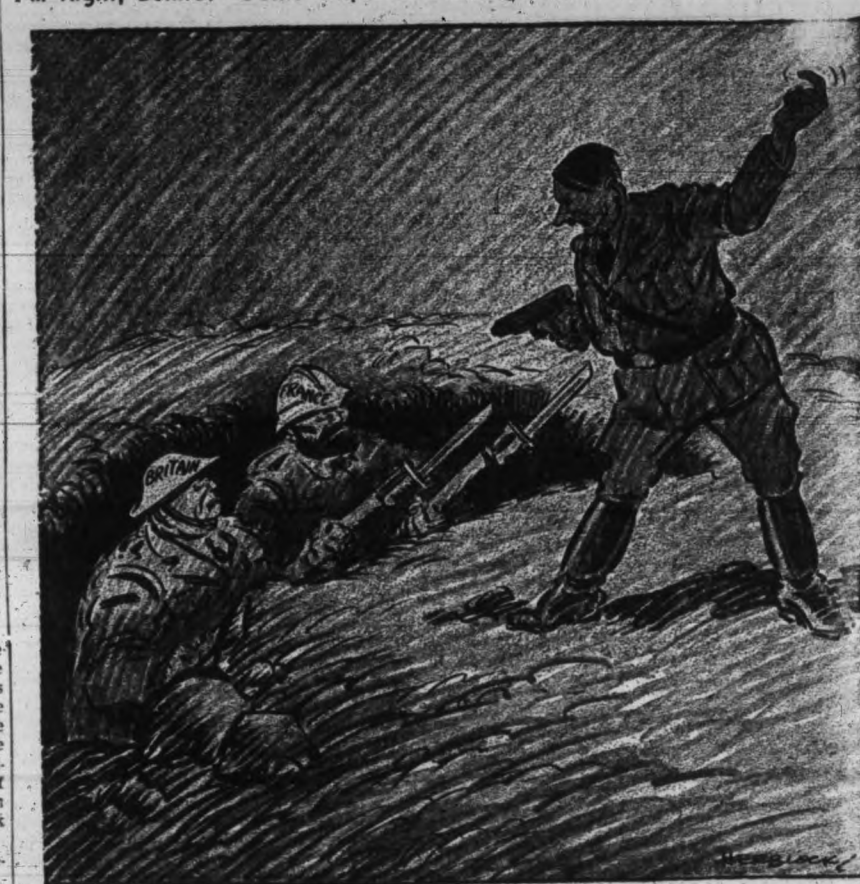

LONDON (CP)—Air raid warnings were sounded in the Fifth of North area early this afternoon as an unidentified plane, presumably German, approached the important shipping centre. The all-clear was sounded about half an hour later.

An Air Ministry communiqué said the alarm was lifted when it was known that no enemy aircraft were in the area.

The persistence of the German flights over the North Sea toward vital British seaports and naval bases—alarms have been sounded every day except Thursday during the last seven days—was regarded by observers as a form of feeling out the British defenses.

In other words, despite the downing of 13 German craft or inflicting losses of about 25 per cent on the invading squadrons, these were believed by many to be reconnaissance flights to map objectives more precisely.

'All Right, Benito! Come On, Joe!'—But It Won't Work This Time

Note on Hitler: There is a story that he was awarded the Iron Cross in 1918 for capturing seven French soldiers single-handed. Coming upon them unexpectedly in the dark, he shouted orders as if to an accompanying detachment of men, and succeeded in bluffing the French group into surrendering.

Browder Indicted In Passport Fraud

NEW YORK (AP)—Earl Browder, 48-year-old former book-keeper who became general secretary of the Communist Party in the United States, was indicted today in the federal investigation of a fraudulent passport ring and locked up in the house of detention.

The indictment contains two counts, charging Browder made false statements in applying for a passport and used the passport illegally.

The grand jury action took Browder by surprise. He had gone to the federal building to testify and was not aware of the indictment until detectives seized him. Taken before District Judge William Bondy, he was held in $10,000 bail for a hearing after he had pleaded not guilty.

The indictment charges that Browder lied in September, 1934, when he obtained a passport under his own name, and again when he had it renewed in February, 1937.

On both of these occasions, the indictment said, he denied in his application that he had ever had a passport before, although he had obtained one in the name of "Nicholas Dozenberg" in March, 1921, and another in the name of "George Morris" in November, 1927.

Browder was born in Wichita, Kansas.

MAKES PRESENT ARMY RIFLES OLD-FASHIONED—The U.S. army is now replacing its efficient .30 calibre model 1903 Springfield rifle (right) with the .30 calibre M1, self-loading and semi-automatic (left). Visible differences are (1) the built-in peep-sight of the new rifle, and (2) the leaf-sight of the old weapon; (3) the self-loading mechanism of the new rifle, and (4) the hand-operated bolt action of the old; and (5) the easy-to-hold pistol-grip stock of the new rifle. With the new rifle, 60 aimed shots per minute are possible, compared with only 15 shots per minute with the old rifle.

Holy War Appeal Used to Swing Quebec Voters

By NORMAN MacLEOD

QUEBEC—This is a provincial election with nothing—or very little—provincial about it.

The determining factor, far from being anything provincial, threatens to be nothing short of a major international development—the Soviet-Nazi alliance.

Only the candidates—of whom there are more than in any similar contest since Confederation—are provincial. Even in their case the federal flavor is prominent, three members of the Ottawa House of Commons having resigned their seats in order to fight the cause of Liberalism and national unity in the provincial arena.

The opinion that is widely held, is that Premier Duplessis, Union National chieftain and author of French-speaking Canada's current version of an Irish Donnybrook, may be in process of winning the battle, but that he certainly also is in process of losing the war.

INVALIDATE RESIGNATION PROMISES

In other words, a win for the Union National forces is being predicted by a margin so narrow that it will be the same precursor of disaster as was the victory of the Taschereau government in 1936. Premier Duplessis will remain in power, it is being widely prophesied in independent quarters, but by a result so close that his administration will be discredited.

Such a prospect is important for the federal corporations involved.

For one thing, Messrs. Lapointe, Cardin and Power conceivably could consider themselves relieved of their undertaking to resign at Ottawa if the Union National forces were to triumph among their compatriots.

More important, the federal cabinet might take the position that time could be counted on to deal satisfactorily with the situation in Quebec, and that it was not necessary to appeal to the country for that purpose.

DUPLESSIS DILEMMA

It is undeniable that the Union National chieftain, ruthless political gambler that he is, holding no stake too sacred to be risked in the interests of his reckless ambition for power, has found himself in recent days occupying that classic but uncomfortable position known as the horns of a dilemma.

In the event of Mr. Duplessis failing to give satisfactory assurance that he will not sabotage Canada's war effort if returned to power—the discovery is likely to be made by the Union National chieftain that the election that he has unloosed upon his French-speaking compatriots has developed overnight into a holy war, with himself cast in the unenviable role of a political anti-Christ.

No factor is working behind the scenes and towards the forefront of the stage more powerfully in this election than is the Russian-German alliance. It is the one consideration making it difficult for the strong clerical influence in the province, disposed to be friendly towards Mr. Duplessis, to "swallow" the Union National chieftain. There are evidences of a definite nature, notably the tone of some of the sermons reported Sunday from the churches, that indicate that the clergy are becoming less easy in their minds every hour about supporting a leader who opposes a war fought against an alliance of German barbarism with Russian Communism.

Can a holy war develop in Quebec in time to prove a boomerang to Mr. Duplessis and to bring victory to Mr. Godbout?

No one in French-speaking Canada seems prepared to answer that question positively, although frankness in nine times out of ten compels the cautious opinion

No, Stalin Replies To Nazi Call for Subs, Warplanes

By J. F. SANDERSON
LONDON (CP Cable)—Sources

close to the government hold firmly to the view that Soviet Russia will not supply warplanes, submarines and other munitions to Germany.

While official circles had no confirmation of Paris reports that Joseph Stalin replied with an emphatic "no" to a plea from Adolf Hitler for military assistance, authoritative sources took the view today the Soviet leader would adhere to a policy of "neutrality."

Hitler is reported to have asked Stalin for 1,000 to 2,000 warplanes, equipped and manned, to launch a new blitzkrieg in the west.

These sources predicted Stalin would refuse to take sides openly with his Nazi diplomatic ally.

NO TIGHTER ALLIANCE

(A Havas agency dispatch from Paris last night quoted French diplomatic circles as saying Hitler would fail to win over Stalin to a tighter alliance, such as a military pact with the Reich.)

In a diplomatic sense, Hitler still may be Stalin's prisoner in eastern Europe, but that does not mean Stalin will jump into the war to hold his advantage, authoritative commentators said.

Reports have reached London that Russian submarines are using Germany's Kiel Canal between the Baltic and the North Sea, but naval authorities say such traffic is usual at this time of year due to the necessity for the Russian fleet to escape from its ice-bound ports.

Many times in the past few weeks British spokesmen have emphasized their desire to maintain relations with Russia. This policy was the foundation for a recent agreement to exchange British rubber and tin for Soviet timber.

Move to Win Stalin Seen Doomed to Fail

By JEAN ALLARY
Havas Staff Writer

PARIS—French diplomatic circles predicted today Adolf Hitler would fail to win over Joseph Stalin to a tighter alliance—such as a military pact—with the Third Reich. The same sources claimed attempts by Hitler to give Italy's neutrality a more pronounced Pro-German tinge likewise were doomed to failure.

These sources said German diplomacy now is being directed to offset the British-French-Turkish mutual aid pact.

NAZI INTERVENTION PLANNED

Qualified circles here hold that Britain and France have Hitler to thank for Turkey's final and unequivocal entry into the pro-ally camp. Collapse of the Russo-Turkish negotiations, they said, was due to German intervention, and to the fact that the Soviet premier and foreign commissar, Vyacheslav Molotov, was made the spokesman for Nazi as well as Russian aspirations in the Balkans.

Nazi propaganda has been insisting Italy was the chief target of the Allies' agreement with Turkey, but Great Britain and France, it was authoritatively stated here, have effectively countered this manoeuvre by giving Rome a full explanation of the meaning of the Ankara pact.

Thetis Raised

LIVERPOOL (CP)—The submarine Thetis rose to the surface today and floated on an even keel about a mile offshore for the first time since its disastrous plunge in Liverpool Bay last June 1, in which 95 died.

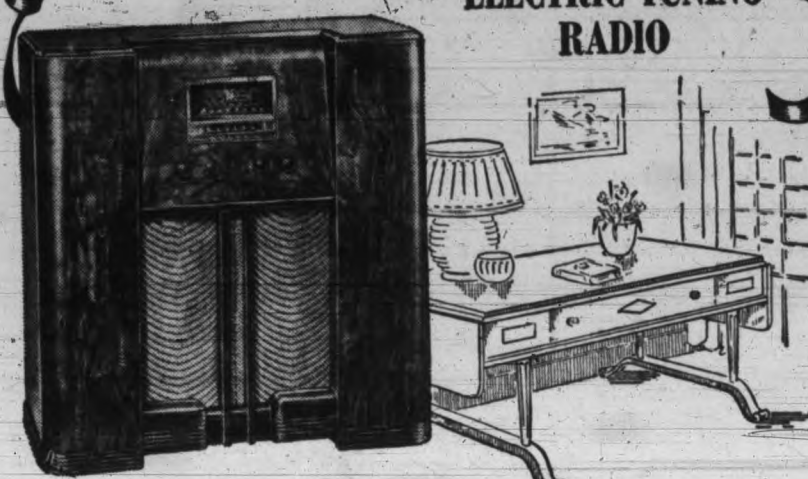

The 34 bodies still in the hull will be removed after beaching operations have been completed.

That not quite sufficient time is left.

But the situation here is so unprecedented that anything may happen.

Quebec Hears Hot Words As Campaign Nears End

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec's political program, growing in national importance with the approach of voting day, neared a climax today as party leaders moved through the second last round of speech-making before the electors go to the polls.

While reports circulated in Ottawa that a victory for Premier Maurice Duplessis Wednesday would result in a general election before the next session of the Dominion Parliament, the Quebec Premier returned to the Montreal district, which he visited last week before beginning a tour of central Quebec towns.

Liberal Leader Adélard Godbout continued his bid for election in his home constituency of L'Islet.

Paul Gouin, youthful lawyer-leader of the Action Libérale Nationale, joined the eastern townships, with addresses at Asbestos, East Angus and Sherbrooke.

The party leaders and two Dominion cabinet ministers accounted for more than 20 speeches in a week-end that saw public halls, market places and the airwaves taxed to the limit. Despite rain that drenched the province, Mr. Duplessis and Mr. Gouin carried out a heavy schedule of addresses in the south shore towns Saturday.

And, yesterday, Mr. Godbout joined in, they again sounded their appeal to the voters of almost a dozen towns and cities. The Dominion ministers, Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Minister of Public Works, and Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, restricted their campaigning to three addresses, one at Yamaska Saturday by Mr. Cardin and 15-minute radio appeals by both last night.

The week-end saw, too, the entry into the campaign of Mayor Camille Houde of Montreal, seeking election in Montreal-St. Mary on an independent ticket, and brought from Premier A. A. Dystart of New Brunswick a dissent issued at Buctouche, N.B., replying to charges made by Mr. Duplessis in an address last Friday at L'Assomption, Quebec.

LAPOINTE SPEAKS

In his fifth, and probably his last, address of the campaign, Mr. Lapointe attacked the Union Nationale government's financial record and charged that Premier Duplessis had called the election "in the hope of using the anxiety and the distress of the country to cover the abyss into which he has cast the province."

Speaking from Ottawa over a Quebec network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, the Justice Minister, who entered the campaign October 9 with a broadcast address and has since spoken at rallies in Quebec, Sherbrooke and Montreal, assailed the Quebec Premier for bringing on polling in this time.

"When the life and security of the nation are threatened, petty provincial quarrels become odious; false and malicious representations become iniquitous," he said. "The punishment will be severe. This electoral adventure is an act of suicide."

FALSE COLORS

Mr. Cardin, speaking from Montreal over the same network as Mr. Lapointe, accused Mr. Duplessis of seeking a renewal of his mandate under false pretences. "It is a provincial election, yes, but our opponents made a sort of federal election out of it," he said.

"In effect, I admit that a clever but hardly frank attempt has been made to draw a curtain over the provincial regime as if to hide it from your scrutinizing eyes, and the spectre of things of war has been laid before you."

This, he said, was because "a general discontent existed everywhere in the ranks of our adversaries."

No one likes war, Mr. Cardin said. "Our opponents said to themselves: 'Many of our people are anxious, let's take advantage of it. While there is talk of war, our administration will be forgotten.'"

Both in his broadcast address and at Yamaska, Mr. Cardin expressed his opposition to conscription, but he warned that if Quebec province sought protection on the question of conscription, the people should show their confidence in their representatives at Ottawa "because it is there that the decisions are made."

"MISERABLE LIAR"

"When Mr. Duplessis held his 'circus meeting' at Three Rivers, he said that a vote for Lapointe and Godbout would be a vote for conscription," Mr. Cardin said at Yamaska. "He was a miserable liar."

"We are participating in the war because it is our duty to help France and England fight Germany and dirty Russia. Anyone with any heart must realize that we should help in the fight. Your right, your liberties, where do they come from? They were given to you by old England and the diplomatic system of old England."

"We owe all our liberties to the protection of England. If we had not passed into British hands in 1759, we would not be recognized as we are today in Quebec, and we would not enjoy the liberties we enjoy today. England is the source of our rights and prerogatives."

CRITICIZES MINISTERS

For his part, Mr. Duplessis attacked the cabinet ministers for entering the provincial campaign. "The people of the province want Quebec to be conducted by Quebec and not by ministers at Ottawa," he said last night at Berthierville in the last of eight week-end speeches.

"The affairs of Quebec must be conducted by the people of Quebec through their representatives in the Legislature. The people are the masters. We do not recognize the right of Dominion ministers to interfere."

In both Sunday and Saturday addresses, Mr. Duplessis referred to the anti-Communist legislation of his government and cited examples to prove Quebec was loyal.

Its government, he said, prevented the sale of Anticosti Island by "millionaires to German interests," and, on top of that, seized a German film in Montreal "and combated the Communists, fomenters of discord, by enforcement of the padlock law."

PERIOD OF WASTE

Mr. Godbout remained in his home constituency throughout the week-end, appealing to the electors of the large riding that stretches from the St. Lawrence River to the Maine border, for their support.

Like the Dominion ministers, he charged the Duplessis government with calling the election "on false issues to conceal their administration." The Premier, he said, did not dare to discuss during his government had done during its three years in office.

It had been a regime of "waste, wanton spending and corruption," he said.

Mr. Godbout appealed for a "clean election." He never had permitted a glass of liquor to be handed out nor a 50-cent piece to be given to influence a vote. "If anyone tries to intimidate you in my favor," he said, "please vote against me."

DUPLESSIS AND CONSCRIPTION

Premier Duplessis had raised the "terror of conscription" but "if there is conscription, it will be Premier Duplessis who will contribute to it," he added.

Mr. Godbout said that "if a single French-Canadian is conscripted, I will resign. I am unalterably opposed to conscription, as are all the Quebec members of the government at Ottawa."

Should a union government be formed, he said, "it won't be participated in by Justice Minister Lapointe, Postmaster-General Power or Works Minister Cardin, but rather by the friends of Duplessis, the Conservatives." He recalled that Premier Duplessis "had been a supporter of the Meighen government" when conscription last was in effect.

A victory for Premier Duplessis at the polls, Mr. Godbout warned, would be a triumph for "demagogues and public liars."

Mr. Gouin, who spoke at seven rallies and delivered two broadcast addresses, centred his attack on the trusts, "the money dictatorship which exerts a pressure on the population by enslaving the two old parties."

The only way to get rid of the trusts, he told a Sorel rally Saturday, "is by voting for the A.L.N. candidates, whose only aim is to put into force the A.L.N. program." The trusts, he charged, contributed more than $1,000,000 to both the Union Nationale and Liberal parties in this election and "whisky and money already have started flowing throughout the province."

In a broadcast address last night over a Quebec network of the CBC, the A.L.N. chief said his party had enough candidates in the field to assure a "preponderant group" in the Legislature, "large enough to dominate the situation."

Mr. Duplessis' program today included addresses in Montreal, St. Denis and St. Jerome.

MINISTERS' PLANS

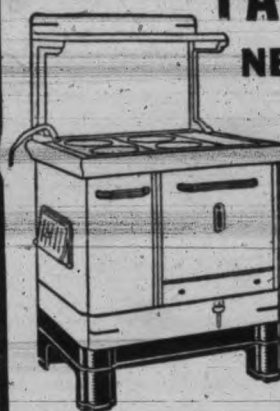

OTTAWA (CP) — Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, will be in Quebec tomorrow for the last day of the provincial election campaign and probably will deliver some short talks to the electors in his own federal riding of Quebec East.

Hon. C. G. Power, Postmaster-General, and Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Works Minister, who, with Mr. Lapointe have been busy in the campaign on behalf of the Liberal Party, are expected to spend the last day of the campaign in or about Quebec city.

Mr. Lapointe and Mr. Power will be in Quebec on election day and probably will return to Ottawa Thursday. Mr. Cardin is expected to spend at least part of his election day at his home in Sorel.

PRIESTS CAUTION
QUEBEC VOTERS

QUEBEC (CP) — A communication, drawn up at the request of Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve and read by priests at Sunday masses in churches throughout Quebec, advised Roman Catholic electors to vote "conscientiously" for the candidate "whom you believe to be honest and capable of fulfilling his duty to God and the state."

The communication warned voters to "guard against perjury." It continued: "As you rightly expect that your liberty be respected, do you also respect the liberty of your fellow-citizens. Abstain, therefore, from threats of violence."

Electors were told to avoid "drunkenness" and "selling your vote."

Communications stressing the need for impartiality by the clergy also were sent to parish priests.

LONDON — Gasoline rationing has affected the London Zoo, where Shetland ponies now make trips outside the zoo grounds formerly undertaken by the zoo trucks.

Hunger Strike Ends

VANCOUVER (CP) — Four unemployed, awaiting trial today on vagrancy charges, ended a five-day hunger strike in the city jail last night by eating Sunday dinner.

The savory odor of cooked food was apparently too much for the men, who missed 12 consecutive meals in protest against being separated from 16 unemployed companions, taken to the Oakalla jail.

The jobless, who want relief assistance, were scheduled to appear in police court today.

ZANE GREY DIES OF HEART ATTACK

ALTADENA, Calif. (AP) — Zane Grey, noted writer and sportsman, died suddenly today at his home of a heart attack. He was in his 65th year.

Attending physicians said the author was suffering from coronary thrombosis and succumbed to a sudden seizure early this morning.

Grey attained fame and fortune through writing colorful novels of the West, most of which have been produced many times as motion pictures. His hobby was deep sea fishing and he spent many months in recent years following that sport in the south seas.

Grey was born January 31, 1875, at Zanesville, Ohio, which was named after ancestors of his mother, Alice Josephine Zane. He graduated from Zanesville schools and, in 1896, from the University of Pennsylvania, and practiced dentistry in New York from 1898 until 1904.

With the publication of his first novel, "Betty Zane," in 1904, he deserted other fields for writing and achieved one of the most rapid and long-standing reputations as a writer of popular fiction in United States history. Within 35 years he published more than 50 novels, most of them with heavy sales.

Several of his books, such as "Riders of the Purple Sage," "The Rainbow Trail" and "The Heritage of the Desert," have become standards of western fiction.

While western stories were his principal medium, he wrote numerous novels based on sports and hunting and fishing, such as "The Shortstop," "The Young Pitcher," "The Young Lion Hunter," and, in 1937, "An American Angler in Australia."

His principal novel of 1914, "The Lone Star Ranger," is popular in several serial adaptations today.

More Than Hitler Must Be Overthrown

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP) — Prime Minister Menzies believes Great Britain and France could not win the war merely by overthrowing Adolf Hitler.

"Our fight is against a series of principles of conduct of government, the continued existence of which is intolerable," he told a church congregation.

"If Hitler ceased to exist the war would continue because the system exists in far more hearts than Hitler's," he added.

"Unless a miracle happens this will be the greatest struggle Bri-

War Election Bill Drafted

OTTAWA (CP) — A war-time election bill is being drafted, it was learned today, to be ready when Parliament reassembles, probably in January. The object of the bill will be to ensure, in case of a federal general election, that each soldier on active service shall have his vote counted in the constituency in which he was domiciled before he enlisted.

Many observers here express the view that if Premier Maurice Duplessis and his government are victorious in the Quebec elections next Wednesday the Dominion government will feel called upon to appeal to the electors before another meeting of Parliament. In that case the present law would be in effect which requires a voter to vote in the polling sub-division in which he was domiciled. Soldiers away from their homes would have to return if they wished to vote.

The contents of the new draft bill are a closely-guarded secret, but the measure is designed to meet some of the objections which caused such controversy over the wartime election act under which the 1917 khaki election was conducted.

CORRECT ABUSES

One objection to the 1917 act was that voters in the army might, in certain circumstances, leave it to election officials to decide to which constituencies their votes were to be allocated. It was claimed this practice was abused.

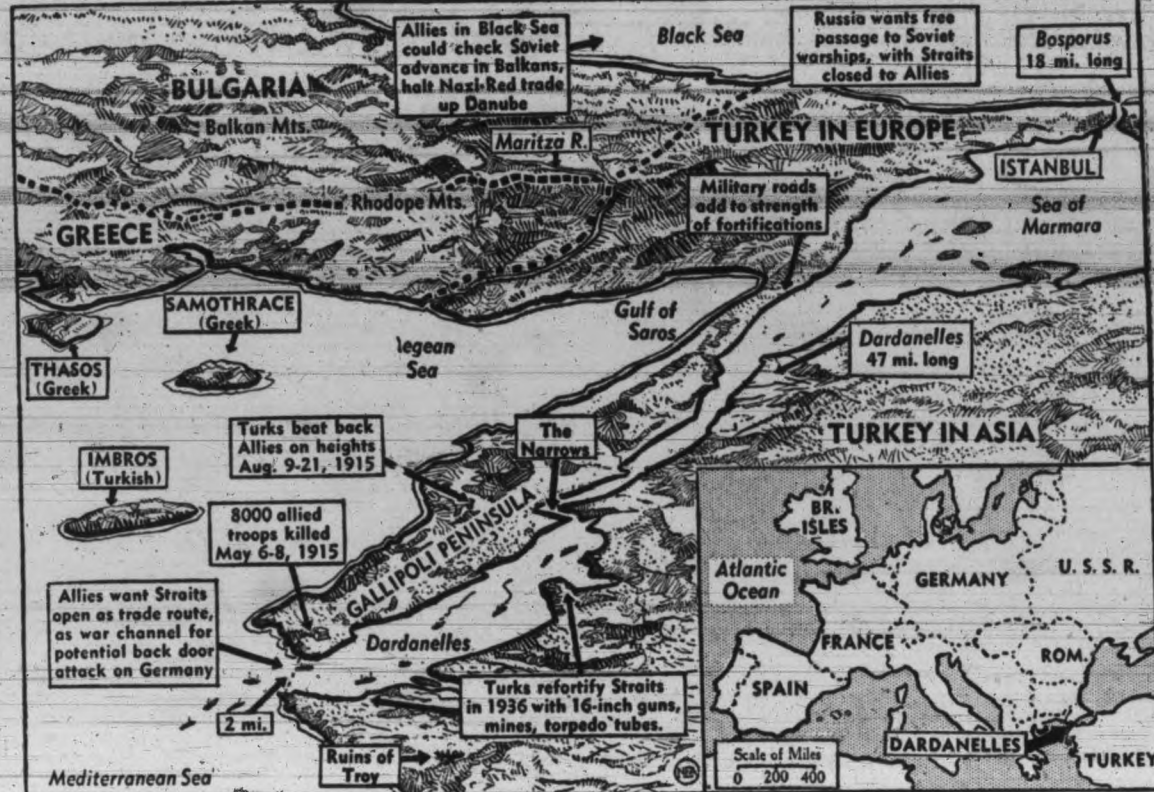

The new bill, it is understood, will propose that each enlisted man state his last personal address before he was mobilized and this would decide the constituency to which his vote would go. The vote would be taken wherever the soldier was serving on election day and forwarded to his home constituency.

Provisions are also proposed to speed up counting of the soldier vote as compared with the practice in the 1917 election. The draft bill will be submitted to Parliament early in the coming session, it is understood.

Kermit Roosevelt In British Army

LONDON (CP) — The London Gazette announces appointment of Kermit Roosevelt as a second lieutenant in the British Middlesex Regiment. The appointment was listed as an "emergency commission" with the infantry. Kermit, son of the late U.S. President Theodore Roosevelt, was a captain in both the British and United States armies in the first World War.

"I have never entered," said Mr. Menzies. "I disagree with the theory that we are fighting one man and that the war will be won if he is overthrown."

40 DIE IN FLOODS IN SOUTHERN SPAIN

MADRID (CP-Havas) — Forty persons were dead or missing today as Spanish relief organizations mobilized to send aid to thousands of families left homeless by flood waters sweeping Cartagena province following days of torrential rain.

The City of Cartagena, one of the most important seaports on the southeastern coast, was inundated. Water was more than six feet deep in the low-lying sections of the city. Property damage was considerable. The basements and ground floors of the Red Cross Hospital, Bank of Spain and Hispano-American Bank were flooded.

Churchill Seen As Possible Premier

TORONTO (CP) — Lord Marley, deputy speaker of the House of Lords, believes Winston Churchill, first Lord of the Admiralty, is a "definite possibility" as Britain's next prime minister.

Lord Marley said there was criticism of Prime Minister Chamberlain by the Opposition in the House of Commons. Many felt, he said, that the man who staunchly believed in appeasement is not the man to lead the country in a war against all the principles appeasement advocates have applied to Germany.

SAN FRANCISCO FAIR BANKRUPT

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco World's Fair management, proceeding under a special section of the emergency bankruptcy laws, is asking the federal court for "an orderly and equitable liquidation of its affairs." The petition lists debts of $4,606,914.

Assets are listed but not evaluated in the petition. The list contains chiefly a description of the various buildings of the Golden Gate International Exposition, and of the concessions.

The fair board of managers obtained from Federal Judge Harold Louderback a restraining order under which the exposition may continue to operate under its present control until the advanced closing date, October 29. The order also prohibits anyone from bringing actions to collect debts.

Randell Larson, attorney who filed the proceedings, said current payrolls and expenses undoubtedly could be met. Biggest creditors are banks, the Standard Oil Company of California and the Pacific Gas and Electric Company. The fair's unpaid light and power bill is about $677,000. It owes the Standard Oil Company $682,000 and nearly $226,000 to each of six banks.

INDIA PROVINCIAL CABINETS MAY QUIT

BOMBAY, India (CP-Reuters) — The Indian Congress (Nationalist Party) working committee at Wardha today called on the eight provincial ministries whose governments it controls to resign in protest against British "imperialist" policy.

The resolution termed "wholly unsatisfactory" the October 17 statement of the Viceroy, Lord Linlithgow, that Great Britain would be willing to enter into consultations looking toward a Dominion status for India after the war.

Dispatches at the week-end described how members of the Congress Party, which is the political expression of Mohandas K. Gandhi's Nationalist movement, had joined Gandhi in attacking the British proposal.

What the Indian Congress wanted, Gandhi said, was the clearest possible acceptance of demands that India be treated as an independent nation.

Conference to Arrange Profiteering Probes

OTTAWA (CP) — In connection with enforcement of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board's control over prices and supplies, Hon. Norman McLarty, Minister of Labor, has called a conference of provincial attorneys-general for next Thursday.

The question to be threshed out there is whether the board will be able to utilize services of the provincial attorneys-general and their officers to carry out investigations for the board or whether a separate enforcement bureau must be set up in Ottawa.

At present, when a complaint of unfair price or practice is received by the board, the board may send an investigator direct from Ottawa, often a Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer, or it may ask a provincial department to make the investigation.

Roosevelt Joins in Prayer for George VI

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) — In the little ivied church where King George VI and President Roosevelt worshipped together last summer, the President, with bowed head, heard his minister yesterday pray that the British sovereign "may vanquish and overcome all his enemies."

Rev. Frank P. Wilson of St. James' Episcopal Church intoned also a prayer for "all the Royal family" — which heads a nation at war with Germany.

"O Lord," Mr. Wilson read from a Canadian prayer book, which is not a part of the regular Episcopal service. "O Lord, . . . most heartily we beseech Thee with Thy favor to behold the most gracious sovereign lord, King George; and so replenish him with the grace of Thy holy spirit, that he may always incline to Thy will and walk in Thy way; endow him plentifully with heavenly gifts; grant him in health and wealth long to live; strengthen him that he may vanquish and overcome all his enemies, and finally after this life he may attain everlasting joy and felicity, through Jesus Christ, our Lord, amen."

The special occasion was the dedication of a King James Bible given by King George VI to Saint James' Church as a memento of the occasion when he and Queen Elizabeth worshipped here last June 11 with the President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

From the Canadian book, Mr. Wilson read a prayer asking God to bless "the gracious Queen Elizabeth, Mary Queen Mother, Princess Elizabeth and all the Royal family."

He read, too, a resolution adopted by the church vestry, expressing its gratitude to the king for his gift. After the service the President, as senior warden, presided over a vestry meeting at which the resolution was signed.

Mr. Roosevelt sat through the service in the family pew, his wife and mother beside him.

Less Rumanian Oil for Germany

BERLIN (CP-Havas) — The National Zeitung of Essen, Marshal Hermann Goering's newspaper, today charged Rumania systematically was cutting down on its oil production and blamed political moves by the Allies for the reduction.

Figures for the principal Rumanian oil companies were given in an effort to show that production for the first eight months totaled 3,663,370 tons this year as compared to 3,873,892 tons last year.

During the same period the price of petroleum, which Germany hopes to obtain for its war machine, rose 20 to 30 per cent in the different grades, the paper said.

Most of the companies are under French or British control, it went on, and the real reason for the cut lies in political events.

Nazi Gasoline Crisis

BERLIN (CP-Havas) — A competent German source said consumption of gasoline by the German forces during the four-week Polish campaign was 10 times greater than was expected by German commanders.

Many Volunteer As Chaplains

OTTAWA (CP) — Adequate provision for soldiers of Protestant denominations will be provided by the Canadian chaplain service, according to plans for organization of the service outlined by Rt. Rev. G. Anderson Wells, C.M.G., 61-year-old Bishop of Cariboo, who today took over his post as principal Protestant chaplain of the Canadian Active Service force.

"My object is to make adequate provision for all denominations over another," he said. "There will be at least three chaplains to both infantry and artillery brigades, and the same number attached to each general and stationary hospital."

Bishop Wells said he had received enough offers of service to equip at least four divisions with chaplains.

Pack up your troubles in your Old Kit Bag!

Everybody knows the words with their catchy tune. To younger people it is just a song. To many of the older generation it brings back memories from overseas . . . Young folk are apt to miss the significance of the "kit bag" — which is something to be packed and strapped on as comfortably as possible when one is braced to start on an adventure . . .

"So pack up your troubles in your old kit bag and smile, smile, smile." It is the British way of doing things which have to be done — even distasteful things.

We in Canada, with the rest of the British Empire, by the judgment of free people, have undertaken a task. Worrying (which is letting "troubles" get in the way) will not help. We must "pack them up" so that we may get on with our jobs whatever they are on active service or in home, office or factory. For it will be a wonderful help if, as far as in him lies, each one of us plays his allotted part in the life of this nation with that indomitable humour which has always seen us through.

Wednesday in Quebec

FROM 251 CANDIDATES THE ELECTORS of the province of Quebec on Wednesday will go to the polls to choose 86 members to sit in the next Parliament. In the last legislature, comprised of a membership of 90, the government of Mr. Maurice Duplessis counted 73 adherents of the Union Nationale, with an opposition made up of 11 Liberals, one Independent Liberal and five wearing the label of the Parti Nationale. Nominated candidates for the present election are divided between 86 supporters of the government, 85 followers of Liberal Leader Adélard Godbout, 56 flying the banner of Mr. Paul Gouin's Action Libérale Nationale, and 24 standard bearers of miscellaneous parties.

Premier Duplessis is conducting his campaign against "encroachment by federal authority" on what he considers are purely provincial rights. He challenges the Dominion Government's use of the War Measures Act as it applies to finance and other matters. Starting from this point, however, he has developed the contest into one in which Canada's war effort in its entirety has become inextricably involved. He has dragged in conscription, ignoring Prime Minister Mackenzie King's unequivocal statement to Parliament that his government would not introduce legislation to provide for compulsory military service, which Quebec ministers in the federal cabinet have interpreted as a personal challenge to themselves and their good faith. They had previously made it clear that they would leave the Ottawa ministry were conscription to become part of their leader's policy.

In spite of all these ministers have said during the campaign, their reminders to the populace as a whole that if ever there was a time when unity throughout Canada was essential to the Empire's contribution toward the defeat of Hitlerism that time is now, Mr. Duplessis cries out to the electors: "Stand up and tell the tyrants at Ottawa we want to remain masters at home." The "tyrants" at Ottawa are engaged with the great bulk of the Canadian people in the business of destroying a system under which liberty of action and expression is under no circumstances allowed.

Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice in the King government, has definitely intimidated to his compatriots in French Canada that if Duplessis should be endorsed on Wednesday he and his colleagues in the cabinet would consider themselves in duty bound to present their resignations to the Prime Minister, since a Union Nationale victory in the ancient province would be construed in no other way than as an adverse vote against themselves. The upshot of such a course very probably would mean a general election, with all the aid and comfort which the Nazi oligarchy at Berlin would naturally try to extract from such an open demonstration of Canadian disunity—embellished and exaggerated, of course, by the elastic imagination of the Herr Doktor Goebbels.

Mr. Duplessis' overwhelming majority in the last Parliament naturally will be difficult to convert into a working margin for Mr. Godbout's Liberals—who have had the support of the federal Minister of Justice and his cabinet colleagues. It is most unfortunate that Quebec's Premier, nearly two years before the constitutional term of the present Parliament expires, should have thought it necessary to stage what is nothing better than a snap election. He is fighting it, like the opportunist he is, on an appeal to prejudice, as well as on the point of sectional authority, which the other provinces have willingly permitted to remain in abeyance until victory over the common enemy has been won.

Germany's Gasoline

OF WHAT USE WILL SOVIET RUSSIA be to Germany in the provision of gasoline? This is a question which is engaging the attention of French experts. And they do not seem to be dismayed by what they have discovered.

It is estimated that German production of "natural petrol" is about 550,000 tons a year, while hydrogenation processes yield an additional 1,700,000 tons, suitable for airplanes. But the Reich's wartime requirements are estimated at 35,000,000 tons annually. Even if Germany succeeded in obtaining the whole of the Russian production—in itself an impossibility—she would still be down on her needs, the total Russian production being 28,800,000 tons.

Transport of Soviet oil would also provide a problem. Land transport is impracticable. Any supplies destined for Germany would have to be shipped through the Baltic, parts of which are icebound in winter, or through the Dardanelles and past the watchful British Mediterranean Fleet to Hamburg.

The foregoing analysis would seem to suggest that the price which Germany has paid for Soviet Russia's collaboration is high indeed. And the newly-signed Anglo-French-Turkish pact has by no means improved matters.

According to the European view, Canadians and Americans are those strange oafs who lack culture, polish, background and tradition, and have learned to live together on one continent.

Goebbels Gets Churchillitis

IF HERR DOKTOR GOEBBELS IMAGINED he could get under Mr. Churchill's skin yesterday by calling him, among other things, a liar and a criminal, he is sadly lacking in knowledge of the stuff of which the First Lord of the Admiralty is made. Britain's most colorful and experienced politician no doubt has filed a collection of unique and picturesque—if forceful—epithets which have been showered on him since he first entered the House of Commons as Conservative member for Oldham at the turn of the century. And how he raked the Tory ship fore and aft when he took the stump for the free trading Liberals only a year or so after.

Dr. Goebbels does not understand even the most simple British mentality; he will never gain sufficient wisdom or experience to enable him to appreciate the Churchillian point of view. Nor does it seem to dawn on him that the outside world is still able to differentiate between what goes by that comprehensive if overworked phrase "wishful thinking" and fact. For when he says Mr. Churchill is a criminal because he was responsible for the sinking of the Athenia, and calls him a liar when the Admiralty chief refuses to acknowledge that soft impeachment, he is only fooling himself.

Surely the Herr Doktor is not so stupid as to think many people outside the Reich—even if many Germans believe it, which we doubt—will swallow such ludicrous propaganda. Mr. Churchill probably chuckles and silently invites the Reich's Minister of Propaganda to keep it up. If the First Lord of the Admiralty one day becomes Prime Minister of Great Britain he ought to drop a note of thanks to Herr Goebbels for his publicity—if the Nazi mouthpiece has not been "purged" by that time.

Victoria to Halifax

TWENTY-ONE HOURS FROM VICTORIA, B.C., to Halifax, N.S.! This means that on and after November 1 a letter posted here at 4 p.m. will be sorted at the Canadian Atlantic seaboard the following afternoon. The new service is part of the expansion of the Trans-Canada Airlines, announced by Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, over the week-end. Later on passengers will be carried on the eastern link as well as mail. In the comparatively short time which has elapsed since the Victoria-Montreal service was inaugurated the public has had good reason to appreciate the facilities for rapid transit of mail and passengers between this coast and the eastern metropolis. It should be noted, too, that if Canadian air-mindedness was a scarce commodity, until recently the safety and regularity with which Trans-Canada Airlines operates has effectively demonstrated the popularity of this means of travel—a hopeful augury for the extension now announced by Mr. Howe.

There are approximately two birds to the acre on this continent. Which brings up the question, are they in two hands, or the same bush?

Tariff Profiteers

THE DIFFERENCE in exchange between the American and Canadian currency of 11 per cent (it may go higher) should provide an excellent opportunity for Canadian industries to build up without any additional tariff protection. Most Canadian industries are protected by too high a tariff now; but some have not been able to get sufficient volume to enable them to operate in Canada. Now should be their opportunity, as under the present war conditions they will have at least an 11 per cent advantage over the goods pouring in from the other side of the line.

Lord Beaverbrook, himself born a Canadian, said on his arrival in Canada that the war is undoubtedly going to make Canada prosperous. It certainly will eastern Canada, where most of the big industries are established. And is it too much to ask the Prices Board of the Dominion Government to prevent industries already protected by a high tariff from profiteering by adding the difference between the American and Canadian exchange to the consumers price? Canada is obliged, under war conditions, to rely on the vigilance of the government officials, to protect them against abuse; they have not the same opportunity for criticism as in peace. The editor of Saturday Night makes the suggestion that it would be wise to keep Parliament in session, so as to provide an avenue of expression between the public and the executive. Today we know that what is going on in Canada only from the prepared communications handed out by the various departments. And that is not enough for a free people.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

DEFEAT

A FEW MINUTES AGO I was walking up Hastings Street with my friend, Percy, and he gave me a lesson on freedom. All along Hastings Street the good ladies of Vancouver were selling tags to aid the refugees of Poland, whose fate was the immediate cause of our entry into the war.

Percy put half a dollar in the tin collection box, but when the pretty girl offered him a tag he hesitated, then took it and thrust it into his pocket. "I had to take it," he told me as we walked up the street. "Not to hurt a pretty girl's feelings. If it had been an ugly one I wouldn't have taken it. Look," he said, waving his arms at the crowd. "Look at 'em! All wearing tags! All labeled like the Germans and Russians. It's precisely this that we're fighting the war against—and then they expect you to submit in the name of Poland! I'll fight for Poland. I'll die for Poland. I'll even give 50 cents for Poland, but I'm not going to be tagged and labeled for Poland like a German! What's the use of fighting the war against regimentation if we lose it at home on the streets of Vancouver?"

With that he threw the tag into the wet gutter and began to complain bitterly against the traffic lights, which he said robbed a man of his British right to walk in front of traffic and get killed if he wanted. He said he thought the real cause of the war was lost already.

IN THE WILDS

IT SEEMS TO ME that all the economists live in the wilds, mostly on remote islands. Whenever I write anything to do with the economic processes, which I never understand, nobody in the cities of British Columbia ever complains. Nobody in the cities, I dare say, reads it or understands it better than I do. City people don't care a whoop about economics or politics when they can see Hedy Lamarr for 35 cents. But I always hear from the country.

I get letters from obscure islands up the coast, where no human habitation was thought to exist, where only an economist could endure, living on text books and statistics for dessert, because the barren soil produces nothing more edible. Up there in the distant places people have time to think, which must make life pretty hard to take. They have no Hedy to make it easy. So, more in sorrow than in anger, they take the yearnings of a lifetime out on fellows like men who write in the newspapers.

A few years ago they would drop you a note casually, but of late years they have begun to take the job with deadly seriousness and a fine civic passion. They have discovered a mission in life, an obligation to save the world from me, and they are fulfilling it nobly. They have even gone out and purchased typewriters for the purpose.

When they wrote in pen or pencil you could never make it out, and you threw it, without reading, into the wastepaper basket, which, in my house, already is the receptacle of some of the finest thoughts of the current world and, if it could speak, would utter up echoes and groans from most of the backwoods of British Columbia, where the sages live.

Now, when they typewrite their messages, when they go at it systematically, waging long campaigns, fighting it out like a major war, you have to listen; you have to read the documents. And the amazing thing is that you usually find they are right. This is always discouraging.

I mean, it puts a little damper on things when you realize that you are all wrong about everything. And it gives you a solemn feeling to know that, far off in the wilds of British Columbia, in lonely cabins, with rain leaking through the roof, and the fire smoking, and the cougars shrieking, there are men who, laboriously picking out the words on their new mail-order typewriters with two fingers, are dedicating themselves to the idea that anyone cares a darn about economics these days; that governments will listen, that writers will pay any attention. It has, I say, elements of high tragedy in it.

DEEDS OF UNDYING GLORY

From Richmond Times-Dispatch

The London press now appears to be staging a revolt. They were implicitly ribald a day or so ago when it was announced that two British fliers had been decorated for gallantry in operations against a German cruiser. The announcement was first denied. Then the denial was canceled and finally the authorities canceled the cancellation.

During all this they never told the story of the gallant operations of the airmen, but they did give out a glowing account of a visit by Sir John Simon to a "camp cook-house."

"Let us tell the world," the London Standard cried, "how Britain has added to her scroll of glory. Sir Francis Drake raided Cadiz; Horatio Nelson broke the line at Aboukir Bay; Sir Roger Keyes bashed his way to Zeebrugge. And now Sir John Simon has poked his nose into the kitchen."

FOR MOVIE FANS

From Walter Winchell

We met this one last night, although we hear it's been around . . . The one about the liner that was stopped in mid-ocean by a German submarine . . . The U-boat commander demanded that H. M. Warner, the movie magnate, be brought on deck . . . "Are you H. M. Warner of Hollywood?" intoned the Nazi . . . "Yes-s-s," trembled H. M. Odd Historic Role For a White Knight

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

AS THE RED ARMY threatens Finland, and Stalin no doubt fixes his eye on the Aaland Islands which lie between Finland and Sweden, the whole of Scandinavia, that Nordic home of the most Nordic man, rocks with apprehension. Hitler is directly responsible for the worst threat to the truest Nordics that they have had in many generations of history.

THE STRONGEST Nazi argument against the existence of Poland was that East Prussia, "the most German part of Germany and the outpost of German culture in the east," was severed from the Reich and "insecure in a Polish sea."

Today it is united with the Reich and its shores threatened by the mighty waves of the Russian ocean.

Meanwhile Hitler prepares to move the Germanic population out of the small Baltic states.

The German Balts were settled there centuries ago, as outposts of Germanic commerce and culture, at the same time and in the same manner as East Prussia was colonized. A minority of the population, they have nevertheless always exercised a power out of all proportion to their numbers, because of the superior economic position they held as landlords and merchants. Should the hammer and sickle conquer the Baltic States, no part of the population would suffer worse than the "capitalistic" Germans. Hitler's "protection" consists of removing them from their homes, at his own expense, therewith removing also the "cultural outposts."

THE POLES—discussed with Germany such a solution for the German Polish minority, offering full compensation for their property, to be paid by Poland—Poland to repatriate her own nationals from Germany, most of whom had no property. But that solution would not even be considered by Hitler. He preferred war. Yet it is exactly the proposition he has accepted, first from Mussolini and now from Stalin!

Mussolini, however, has decided instead to "protect" the Germanic peoples in the South Tyrol, whom he originally decided to move into the Reich. He is sending German agents but keeping the Tyrolean population—perhaps to "protect" Hitler's folk against Bolshevism!

HITLER'S CONTEMPT for the Slavs has been notorious. His first quarrel with the Austro-Hungarian empire was that it gave equal status of citizenship to "inferior" Slavs, Magyars, and other non-Germanic nationalities. His original claim to the domination of the east was supported by his racial and political theory that Communism was a Jewish invention, that Russia was ruled by the Jews, that their sovereignty would collapse, and that then the Germanic elements would rule Russia. Maybe. But if Stalin is a Germanic element, that is news. If Hitler is going to halt pan-Slavism, he is going to have to fight it. True, he had counted on fighting it after settling with France, but he had also counted on the benevolent assistance of Great Britain and Italy, first against France and later against Russia.

And he intended to use anti-Communism as the rallying cry. Exhausted in the west, will he be able to hurl his armies against a fattened, enlarged and intact Russia, and under what parole?

AS FOR "SOCIALISM from Above," we are ill-informed about what has happened during recent months inside Germany. But this we do know: the conspiratorial Nazi system, with its cells, block guards and party spies, and with the complete suppression of all rights of free speech, press and open assembly, is invulnerable to internal revolution except in the collapse of an unsuccessful war. But it is not at all invulnerable to counter-conspiracy organized by trained professional revolutionaries.

For the past year and a half at least the Gestapo and the Storm Troop units have been systematically penetrated by Communists.

Duties for All During Wartime

In times such as those prevailing today it was up to every uniformed man to do his best in the job allotted him and although men on the coast might find it difficult to visualize the country at war, deep down he knew that every man realized "we are at a serious show" and was prepared to give his best, Brigadier J. C. Stewart, G.O.C. M.D. No. 11, told officers and men of the 13th Field Ambulance at a regimental dinner in Spencer's dining-room Saturday night.

The occasion was the presentation to the local field ambulance of the Ryerson Cup, won by the unit in competition with all other field ambulance corps of Canada for general efficiency. A replica of the original trophy was presented by Brigadier Stewart to Lieut.-Col. Gordon Kenning, officer commanding the corps.

The replica was forwarded by the Defence Medical Association while the original remains at Ottawa during wartime.

In his remarks which prefaced the presentation, Brigadier Stewart noted the trophy had been won for a sweeping list of achievements which had required every officer and man to do his best for the sake of the unit.

"The situation today is that every man has his job allotted him and I know that you are all going to do those jobs," he said. He realized the disappointment of the corps in not being chosen in the first or second divisions for overseas service and he did not know whether or not there would be opportunity for the men to be in formation at a later date. However, it was up to every unit and the brigadier realized that during the present period of stress the men were busy converting their civilian habits and minds into more serious thinking.

CONGRATULATIONS

He warmly congratulated the unit for its achievement as he presented the trophy.

After receiving the award, Lieut.-Col. Kenning paid tribute to the N.C.O.'s and men for the part they had played in winning it. It had only been won because of their enthusiasm in training, he said.

The congratulations of the civilian population to the unit were tendered by R. W. Mayhew, M.P.

"I feel satisfied that you will give as good an account of yourselves in the real tests as you have in competition," he said.

The struggle today was one in which every man must do his best and those in the audience, by the uniforms they were wearing, had indicated how far they were willing to go for the preservation of an order where force was not recognized as the end of all things. It indicated a willingness to preserve freedom of speech, freedom of action and the true value of the individual. The duty of civilians was to measure up to the uniformed men were doing, he said.

PATIENCE AT HEADQUARTERS

He congratulated Brigadier Stewart and his staff for the patience they had shown in the struggle. In Ottawa, during the opening days of the war, he had an opportunity to see what military authorities were up against, and any delay had not been caused by the higher authorities or departmental heads but by the "crowding in" of civilians "with all manner of things."

Additional congratulations were offered the unit by Lieut.-Col. J. Murray, district medical officer and Col. W. H. K. Anderson, who commanded the original 13th Field Ambulance overseas and who has rejoined the unit as a major. The accomplishment in winning the trophy was one of particular gratification to him, he said.

Lieut.-Col. Kenning presided over the function which was attended by several visiting staff officers and all other ranks of the unit. The evening was brought to a close with entertainment provided by the officers and men.

Among the evening's toasts was one to Hon. F. M. McPherson, former B.C. public works minister, honorary colonel of the regiment. It was the honorary colonel's suggestion that the dinner be held when the trophy was received, Col. Kenning said, and he regretted the cup had not arrived before Mr. McPherson left for Ottawa.

PIONEER ORPHANAGE TO BE DEMOLISHED

One of Victoria's pioneer buildings will go when wreckers complete demolition of the Y.W.C.A. annex building on Courtney Street.

A $100 permit was issued at the building inspector's office at the City Hall this morning for demolition of the structure.

The building was erected in 1898 as the first B.C. Protestant Orphans' Home in Victoria.

When the new orphanage was opened on Hillside Avenue, the Y.W.C.A. took over the building and operated it as the main house until the new building fronting Blanshard Street was opened some years ago. Then the wooden structure became the annex and older women have since been staying there.

Rose Among 'Mums Sings Here Tonight

ROSE BAMPTON

Music in war times is more necessary than in times of peace. Rose Bampton, lovely statuesque soprano of the Metropolitan Company said in Victoria yesterday. She is shown in the above picture among the chrysanthemums in the conservatory at the Empress Hotel, where she is resting for her concert tonight. She wears the plaid ribbon and insignia presented to her by the Seaford Highlanders of Vancouver after she sang for them at a special concert on Friday.

"I was in France just before war broke out," she said. "I was told opera and other music would not be curtailed at all during the war; the Opera Comique was planning to carry on its full program, although one night 28 of the cast were called to army service and substitutes had to be found."

"I quite agreed with them that music was most necessary in these times; it gives persons a few hours away from the realities of life, they are able to forget war for a short time as they lose themselves in music."

Miss Bampton is quite willing to do her part in times of war. Thursday evening in Los Angeles she sang at a benefit for Polish refugees and then flew to Vancouver, and Friday night sang to the Seaforders.

"I am doing what little I can," she said. "I was happy to go to Los Angeles for that concert. I sang my first 'Aida' in Warsaw. I will never forget the applause those Polish people gave me. Perhaps I paid them back a little on Thursday."

GLAD TO RETURN

Obviously delighted to be once more in Victoria, Miss Bampton recalled the appearance she made last January with the Seattle Symphony Orchestra before 3,000 persons at the Armories, when she was given such a spontaneous reception, and had to sing an encore, even though that "just isn't done" when a singer is only assisting artist with an orchestra.

"I often think of that concert—it was one of the happiest of my life," the large-eyed 30-year-old brunette said. "Other singers have told me Victoria is the friendliest place to sing, and I realized it then."

This evening Rose Bampton will sing at the Royal Victoria Theatre, assisted by Ossy Renard, brilliant young violinist, who is first to the top flight of virtuosi.

Wearing orchids on her plaid sports coat and carrying a great bouquet of red roses, Miss Bampton arrived yesterday afternoon from Vancouver.

HEARD HUSBAND

"It was such a pleasant trip across—the scenery is perfect," she said. "And I heard my husband, Wilfred Pelletier, on the Metropolitan auditions." Mr. Pelletier is conductor of the Metropolitan Opera House orchestra. "Now I'm going to have a good look around Victoria and see the sights I missed last time," she said after she had posed for press cameramen.

Miss Bampton said she was thrilled beyond words when she sang for the Seaford Highlanders.

"I had such a good time," she said, and showed the plaid ribbon the boys presented her. On it were the insignia of the Seaforders, a button and the regiment's crest.

"Wherever I go, whenever I sing, this button is going with me," she said. "I was so thrilled when they gave it to me, I could only weep out my thanks."

"I told the colonel my father was born in England, and he said, after Scotland, that was the next best place."

She said she had hoped to sing to the soldiers in Victoria, but apparently arrangements could not be made.

NEVER TEMPERAMENTAL

Miss Bampton was born in Cleveland, where she first studied music, before going abroad to work further in the leading music centres of Europe. But she is a typical product of the American school, easy to meet, charming of manner, simple and unaffected, enjoying every moment of life, never temperamental.

Since she was last in Victoria Rose Bampton has sung in South Africa. Her husband went with her and played her accompaniment.

She had intended making a concert tour of Europe next spring; but this has now been canceled.

After several concerts in Pacific coast cities, Miss Bampton will fly to Chicago to sing for a month with the famous opera company of that city. After that she will go to New York to appear in leading roles with the Metropolitan.

BUILDING TOTALS

Building in Greater Victoria continued slow throughout last week, with permits issued for only five new homes, the largest being for $4,000.

Seven permits, for a total value of $7,918 were issued at the building inspector's office in the City Hall. These included one for a $4,000 home.

In Saanich six permits, for work valued at $4,125, were issued, including two new dwellings, one on Parker Street, of four rooms for C. T. Briggs, to cost $2,000, and one of four rooms on Sluggett Road, costing $1,500.

Norman Hill, who has built several attractive small homes at "Fernhill," the old Pooley estate on Lampson Street, this week took out a permit at the Esquimalt Municipal Hall for a four-room, $1,500 stucco home. Kenneth Barr was issued a permit to build a four-room, $1,300 home on Admirals Road, near the naval barracks.

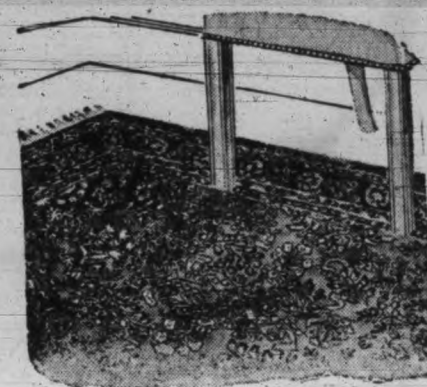

No permits were issued in Oak Bay.

An old home at 553 Simcoe Street, owned by Henry J. Enoch, 2796 Dufferin Street, will be converted into a two-family dwelling, and will become 151-153 Clarence Street. The work will cost $800.

Mrs. G. MacDonald, 343 Michigan Street, took out a permit for $300 alterations to her home. The Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association was issued a $200 permit for erection of a wooden arch, a 20 by 30 platform and fence on the vacant area of the Chinese school on Fisgard Street, for use of the Red Cross and Chinese charity.

Nazi Housewives Find War Menu LimitedOnly 16 Coffee Beans
For Week's Supply
On German Rations

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

Associated Press Correspondent

BERLIN (AP)—How to make palatable dishes for the family on war rations is a problem the German hausfrau has had to face from the very beginning of the war.

With bread cards, flour cards, meat cards, fat cards, and a variety of other cards in vogue, shopping has become a fine art.

One hausfrau took the trouble of counting how many coffee beans the little paper bag actually had. The result surprised even her—16 beans from which to brew coffee for a week.

The Nazi Woman's Auxiliary is trying to step into the breach and help out the puzzled housewife with daily bills of fare.

Until cold weather sets in the daily ration can be made palatable by fruits of various kinds. Later, it is to be assumed, something else must be thought up.

SAMPLE MENUS

Here are sample menus devised by the auxiliary for four days for a family of four:

Thursday—Breakfast: "Mixed" coffee (meaning a few coffee beans mixed with chicory, barley or some other ingredient); bread, jam and artificial honey. Dinner: Pork soup, spinach, potatoes; pork sausage. Supper: Leftovers of dinner spinach, potatoes and gravy. In addition, plum pancake.

Friday—Breakfast: Like Thursday. Dinner: Carrots, apples and potatoes boiled together as one dish; sour milk, canned cranberries. Supper: Tomato salad, bread with sausage, oil sardines or cold meats (if available).

Saturday—Breakfast: "Light" oatmeal soup (presumably meaning with plenty of water), bread with jam or artificial honey. Dinner: Soup made of herbs (if possible with bread added), sauerkraut with bacon, potatoes. Supper: Mixed salad made up of boiled potatoes, tomatoes and cucumbers; bread with canned fish; "German" tea (meaning tea made of whatever herb or tree blossoms grows in that particular section of the country).

Sunday—Breakfast: Jam and fresh fruit, home-baked white bread, honey or marmalade, tea. Dinner: Plum soup, pork or lamb roast, cabbage salad, potatoes, chocolate pudding with vanilla sauce. (This is assuming that the butcher will have a roast for this family of four. Housewives already complain that this is often not the case. Every citizen is entitled to one pound of meat—including canned meats and sausages—per week.) Supper: Tomatoes with whey cheese mixed with herbs, fried potatoes, "German" tea.

RESTAURANTS HIT

If perchance the family should decide that, of a Sunday, it would like to indulge in the luxury of going to an ice cream parlor, it will find itself out of luck. At best, it can obtain only a watery sort of substitute for ice cream. Since September 13 the use of unskimmed milk has been forbidden to ice cream manufacturers.

If the family should hanker for "real" and not "German" coffee, hence to some coffee shop or confectionary, it never knows whether coffee will be available, or whether, as happens in many cases, "real" tea is the best to be obtained instead of coffee.

Over 3,500 Women Registered Here

Headquarters and Booths in Stores Open Few Days More

About 1,500 women overwhelmed the registrars at the booths for the Voluntary Registration of Canadian Women on Saturday, bringing the total registered to date to about 3,500 in Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt. It is hoped that this total will have exceeded 5,000 before the campaign closes this week. Returns have yet to be received from the outlying districts.

For the convenience of women who have been unable to get in to register or were unable to wait during the rush on Saturday, it has been decided to keep the headquarters centre office, 1208 Government Street, open until the end of this week. Two other registration stands will also be maintained for today, Tuesday and Wednesday, one at the Hudson's Bay Company's store, the other at David Spencer Ltd.

The C.C.F. Women's Auxiliary will meet on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Espley, 1137 Caledonia Avenue, at 2.30 p.m.

Canadian women in Britain are organizing to play their part in the war and to help in every way possible any Canadian forces which may be sent to England. The Canadian Women's Club, an organization with a membership of over 300, is the focal point of the scheme. Mrs. Vincent Massey, wife of the high commissioner, left, who is chairman of the emergency committee, is shown interviewing women volunteers at Canada House in London.

Weddings

DEWHIRST-STEWART

A pretty ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents on Saturday evening at 8.30 when Grace Lucille, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stewart, 621 Seaford Street, Victoria, became the bride of Robert Dewhirst, Esquimalt, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewhirst, Calgary, Alberta.

Rev. Hugh A. McLeod of First United Church performed the ceremony beneath an arch and wedding bell of rose and white streamers in draped curtain effect, tied with white bow, and flanked by tall baskets of Michaelmas daisies and pink pom-pom dahlias. White and rose chrysanthemums and Michaelmas daisies were also used in the rooms.

Miss Isabelle Haigh played the wedding march, and also accompanied Mrs. Charles Hunt, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin jacketed with gold thread and buttoned in the back. Her tulle veil hung from a halo of orange blossoms, and she wore white kid gloves and carried a shower bouquet of Belmont gardenias, white carnations and bouvardia.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. H. E. King, who was gowned in pale blue chiffon with shirred jacket, her doll's hat of pink net topped with a cluster of roses. She wore lacemitts and carried a quaint colonial bouquet of Briarcliffe roses, white carnations and swansonia.

Master Jackie Anslow was the ringbearer in white satin suit, carrying a heart-shaped satin cushion with ring.

The best man was Mr. Wm. Smith and ushers were Mr. Harry King.

After the ceremony a reception was held, the bride's mother receiving in a gown of black Romaine crepe with clre-satin trim and turquoise jewels, and corsage of Talsman roses and violets.

Supper was served from a table covered with a linen cloth and centred with the three-tier wedding cake, with pink, tapers in silver holders.

Out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Reid Banford and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tietzel of Chilliwack, B.C.; Miss Dolphine Anderson, Seattle.

For the honeymoon trip on the mainland the bride donned a grape-shade wool ensemble with accessories to match, lapin fur coat and a corsage of gardenias and swansonia.

They will reside on their return at Sea Falls Court, Gorge.

FOLKARD-CLEGG

Zinnias, chrysanthemums and Michaelmas daisies were used in the chancel of St. Andrew's United Church, Alberni, for the wedding of Eva, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clegg, and Mr. George Folkard, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Folkard of Enderby, B.C., Sunday afternoon at 1.30, Rev. A. McLean officiating.

Mrs. F. E. Pitts was at the organ and accompanied Mrs. Olga McLean, who sang "Oh Promise Me" during the signing of the register. Mr. Frank Folkard was groomsmen and ushers were Mr. David Dootson and Mr. G. Anderson.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Empire gown of forget-me-not blue silk tulle, over organza and taffeta, with front panels of broderie Anglaise. Her waist-length veil of tulle hung from a coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried a sheaf of pink roses, white carnations and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Reece Riley was her sister's matron of honor, wearing bluish bronze-velour lace with jacquette and a spray of chrysanthemums on hair, her bouquet composed of bronze chrysanthemums. Miss Lucy Clegg, as her sister's bridesmaid, wore eaudelle green triple sheer frock, a hair spray of chrysanthemums and her bouquet was of orchid-colored chrysanthemums.

At the reception, held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Clegg received the guests in a mulberry-toned gown of triple cheer, with guipure lace to tone and a spray of white carnations.

Roses in silver vases decorated the table, centred with the four-tiered wedding cake, and autumn leaves and blossoms were arranged throughout the rooms. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. W. Smith of Parksville, aunt of the bridegroom.

When Mr. and Mrs. Folkard left for Victoria, en route to Spokane, the bride wore a frock of forest green alpaca, with a top coat of brown frieze trimmed with wolf, and a duchess beret hat, with veil. On their return they will reside in their new home at Redford Road, Port Alberni.

UNTERNAHER-GAWLEY

The marriage took place quietly at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. James Hood, of Dorothy Margaret, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gawley, 845 Devonshire Road, to Mr. Jack Untermaier (Blake), eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jack Untermaier.

To Make Survey on Why Wives Work

SEATTLE (AP) — Dr. Ruth M. Shallock of New York City, director of research for the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, was here today to launch a survey the federation hopes will settle that vexing question "should wives work."

Dr. Shallock is firmly convinced that woman's place is in the home—and anywhere else she may be performing valuable work.

She made two points clear in her first interviews here: 1. Most working women work not for fun but because they must.

2. Of approximately 4,000,000 women working in the United States today most hold positions for which they do not compete with men.

"All this talk about women who hold jobs being the cause of the unemployment among men just isn't true," she said. "One-third of the women employed in the United States now are in domestic service—jobs which men would not want."

Washington is the first of 22 states in which cross-section surveys of conditions of working women will be taken. Data gathered in the survey will be used to plan or fight legislation affecting women who work.

Molyneux Declares War on War

Paris Dressmaker Stages Fashion Show Before Crowd

PARIS (AP)—Parisian dressmakers declared war on war today, the first wartime collection of models going on parade in grey and gold salons thronged with spectators.

This opening was the first concrete results of the dressmakers' efforts to combat war conditions that threatened to destroy their business.

It was the Molyneux collection of 40 new models.

A practical note was sounded throughout in dark colors, restrained lines and scarcity of trimmings. Tailored suits shown were sturdy tweeds, brown or grey mixtures with sweaters slightly brighter in contrasting colors.

Military-styled coats were on fitted lines trimmed with brass buttons and shown in "R.A.F. blue," a new navy shade. Some loose tweed coats were fur lined and went with matching suits or skirts. Full circular skirts with swirling lines featured lengths just covering the knee. Air raid ensembles were launched in black with pyjamas of heavy crepe and loose coats of wool. These were accompanied by colored hoods and sashes, some of a new bright blue called "Alerte" (the French word for air raid warning).

A.Y.P.A. COUNCIL

Victoria and District Local Council A.Y.P.A. heard reports at the monthly meeting on finance from Lenora Trickett, on the debating league from Fred Leighton and on the installation rally from Ray Hadfield, who also reported on the Monthly Magazine.

Bolster with a gift as a token of high esteem held for him as Chaplain to the council, and wished him every success in his new parish in Oregon.

Letters to the Editor

PAYING WOMEN
To the Editor:—Replying to the letter in Saturday's paper "Why Registration Is Slow," if the writer will carefully read his Maclean's article again he will find that the statement "it is not proposed to pay any salaries," refers to the army of women who organized the registration and worked freely in the booths, and not to those who answer the questionnaire and register for emergency work.

PARKING
To the Editor:—I don't know what the owners and drivers of automobiles in Victoria think about the parking rules, but in my humble opinion they are a farce and should be altered and brought up to date.

For one example, an owner of a car can be and is often fined $2.50 for parking more than one foot from the curb, but if he parks his car 10 or 12 feet (double parks) he is allowed to do so.

Saturday I counted five cars double parked on Fort Street opposite the Times, with a policeman within 100 feet reading the bulletins.

This is only one of the many examples of the way the traffic laws are administered.

It is about time, before a serious accident occurs, that narrow streets like Fort should be regulated as regards double parking.

The day is not far distant when parking rules will have to be altered to conform with the ever-increasing number of cars on downtown streets. Why not use the numerous vacant lots belonging to the city and make a small charge or by making parking for more than half an hour unlawful make people use the parking lots found in all up-to-date cities.

It might be a good idea if the authorities who govern such matters were given a free visit to some foreign city where they have to contend with ten times the congestion existing here.

But in any event double parking should be stopped.

HELPING THE FIGHT
To the Editor:—May one of the "Friends of China in Victoria" ask the citizens of Victoria to make some sacrifice in order to make a success of the "Rice Bowl Festival" which is to be put on October 26 to 28 at the Chinese Benevolent Society's grounds, 636 Fisgard Street.

For over two years China has been fighting Fascist foes in the Far East for her own freedom, and that of the whole world. All money taken at this festival will be divided equally between our own Canadian Red Cross Society, the Chinese Medical Aid and War Refugees Funds.

Our citizens will thus be helping China, a friend in need, with one hand, and with the other, Great Britain, her Dominions and her allied forces everywhere.

Seek to Prevent Basketball Defaults

CALGARY (CP)—The Alberta Amateur Basketball Association decided at the annual meeting here Saturday to urge the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association to rule that any team defaulting in playdowns be forbidden participation in future play-offs "until the obligation is fulfilled."

Secretary-treasurer Clare Hollingsworth of Edmonton said such a ruling was desired to protect Alberta teams, especially women's from defaults.

Whether poisonous snakes are immune to snake venoms is being investigated.

West's Capture Opening Match Sports Mirror

THE FIFTEENTH ANNUAL school gala is now just another chapter in the history of one of Victoria's more worthwhile sports events. Again it has reflected great credit on its sponsors, the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, particularly Jim McCague, secretary, and Mrs. Alice Hibbertson, whose infectious enthusiasm for swimming and human tadpoles has been a torch that has fired others to interest in the event.

The meet lived up to all expectations. Competition was razor keen. One of the races was so close, the width of a cigarette paper only separated the first and second places. A grand school spirit sent the youngsters and their older team members away to heroic efforts. The excitement was attested by the bedlam that was let loose by clamoring spectators, young and old.

For Mona Bradford, teacher at Sir James Douglas School, it was a delayed and somewhat roundabout reward for the time she has spent in the swimming background. Scarcely a meet has been held here during recent years that has not claimed Miss Bradford's energies in some way or another. She has been giving her time to routine work for the swimming league and Pacific Club without thought of any personal inconvenience. On Friday evening she found herself thrust into a place in the sun, the leader of the victorious Moss Street group.

Favorites ran generally to form in the straight races, but some of them had their work cut out against comparatively unknown competition. Len Coverdale, a young Central Junior High boy promises, with training, to give Derrick Cosby, a run for his money in the under 14 grouping that Cosby has been dominating for the last couple of years.

Hazel Smith, Victoria's leading mermaid, probably gave her greatest performance to date in the 50 yard stretch she swam in the senior girls' relay. As anchor for Normal School she closed up a lot of the gap between her team and the winners but could not overhaul the Convent quartette, a group of hurrying Y.M.C.A. girls, teammates of Hazel.

Helen Manning made her return to competitive lists after an absence of some time and was good enough to win the girls' open 50 freestyle for Victoria College.

If Friday's meet was a preview of the winter aquatic season, the game should gain considerable momentum here.

On a short visit to the town in which he starred as pivot for the world hockey champions, Cougars, Frank Frederickson comes, bewildered over Victoria's failure to replace its skating rink. "Fred" sees an arena here as a potential money-maker that would pay dividends in cash as well as in those intangible returns that come from sport.

Had there been hockey facilities here the city could have picked up a team at little expense for a revived Pacific coast circuit. Those Spokane Clippers Seattle took over last week would come here at no great cost.

They have pulled Jack Sharkey back onto the sports page to state that Jack Dempsey, at his peak, would have whipped Joe Louis; that Jack's punch was four to five times as lethal as that of the Brown Bomber.

Sharkey, the erstwhile garrulous gob, should know. He stopped punches from both champions. But the comparison of the relative punches seems somewhat fatuous to the lay observer. You can be killed just as dead with a 22 shell as you can with a .45 if it hits you in the right place.

The story now goes that Tony Galento, he of the gargantuan girth and the classical English, is going into the movies. At this writing, the slot he'll fill in screenland is not known. But he'd look awfully natural coming out of the jungle in a Tarzan picture.

The Victoria and District Football League silverware race got off to a delayed start Saturday with a young Victoria West eleven scoring a 2 to 0 triumph over Work Point soldiers at Heywood Avenue Park.

The Wests netted their markers in the first 20 minutes of the final half. Johnny Moore, inside forward, and Duncan, outside wing, doing the scoring.

In an exhibition game at Beacon Hill Park Charley Lewis, Victoria City Club, defeated Victoria Club, local entry in the Pacific Coast League, 3 to 2.

The team that carried the Victoria West colors onto the playing field Saturday was the youngest that has represented that district in several years. On the Garrison line-up were three members of last year's champion Young Liberals of the intermediate circuit, Hiram Casillio, Bill McColl and Ari Coates.

Joe Travis at right wing and Duncan, outside left, were two West newcomers who showed up well during the game, but "Scotty" Robinson, a greenshirt veteran, was the lad who took the spotlight. He did most of the play-making.

ATTACKS WEAK

Poor finish in front-line attacks proved the downfall of the soldier boys. In the first half they kept play for the most part in their opponents' half of the field, but bad shooting prevented them from scoring. Those shots that did look dangerous were well-handled by Tommy Restell, playing manager, who operated between the Wests' sticks. Kennedy's bullet shot which was blocked by Chuck Restell and Casillio's header which barely missed finding the net, were the two most dangerous attempts made by the soldier team. Garrison goalie Coldwell was called on to stop some tough West drives in this half also.

In the final half Wests were the aggressors, and just seven minutes after the resumption Munroe rapped in the first goal, culminating a fine combination rush. It was a high shot over the netminder's head. Robinson failed to add another to the West's total shortly after on a penalty kick.

Duncan completed the scoring at the 20-minute mark. He first aimed Munroe's cross from the far side of the playing pitch into the hem. The shot had lots of steam behind it, and Coldwell had no chance of saving it.

Wests continued to have the better of play to the finish. Garrison attacks continued to finish off poorly.

Teams follow: Garrison—Coldwell, Coates, Watt, Speller, Thomson, Thorburn, Kennedy, Henry, Casillio, Sage and McColl.

Victoria West—T. Restell, Murray, Okell, Smith, C. Restell, Cooper, Travis, Munroe, Blake, Moore, Robinson, Duncan and Brown.

Vines Wins Over Fred Perry 20-18

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.—Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena, Calif., late yesterday won the national professional tennis championship from Fred Perry, formerly of England, but now of Beverly Hills, in one of the most vicious contests in the history of championship tennis.

Vines captured the crown with match scores of 8-6, 6-8, 6-1, 20-18.

Vines, who has been suffering from blistered feet during the entire tournament, played under extreme physical difficulties and at times was in such condition it seemed as if he might not be able to go on. As a matter of fact he was near collapse at the moment the pro crown finally settled itself upon his weary head.

It required 4 hours and 35 minutes for Vines and Perry to play the four sets.

Bruce Barnes of Austin, Tex., and Keith Gledhill of Los Angeles won the national doubles championship by defeating Vines and Perry by scores of 6-2, 7-5, 11-9. Vines and Perry were so weary after their fierce singles encounter that Gledhill and Barnes went through them without any great difficulty.

BRENTWOOD WINS

Displaying better team work in the last part of the game, Brentwood College rugby 15 scored an 8 to 0 victory over Victoria College Saturday afternoon in an interschool match at Brentwood. A try by Shields in the last few seconds gave Brentwood its margin of victory.

A 30-yard field goal by A. Gillespie in the early part of the game gave Brentwood the lead, but the score was tied on I. MacPherson's try, which was not converted. Before the half ended Brentwood bagged an 8 to 3 lead. Anstey grounding behind the line and I. MacDonald converting. The score was again deadlocked in the second half when Victoria's A. MacDonald got through for a try and I. Gillespie converted. Shields' try in the closing second gave the Brentwood boys their victory.

Brown Twins Stars Of College Meet

TORONTO (CP)—McGill University's track and field forces overcame the sensational Brown twins of Toronto and captured the intercollegiate championship, despite a grand slam performance by the big blond boys from Meaford, Ont.

Browns won six events between them, but McGill's powerful squad piled up a point total of 67 to capture college track honors for the 15th time in the last 21 years. Toronto's total was 61.

Queen's scored 18 and University of Western Ontario 17. Harold Brown, British Empire Games broad jump champion, won the 100-yard dash in 10.1, the 220-yard dash in 22.6, and the javelin throw of 171 feet 4 1/2 inches.

Brother Wallace broke his own college broad jump record with a leap of 23 feet 9 1/2 inches. He topped another record by putting the 16-pound shot 41 feet 8 1/2 inches. His third win was accomplished by throwing the discus 126 feet 1 1/2 inches.

Rangers Beat Amerks Knights Score Shutout Triumph

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—New York Rangers scored a 3 to 2 victory here Saturday night over their New York National Hockey League rivals, Americans, in the second game of an exhibition series started here Friday when the clubs tied 2 to 2. They play again tonight in Winnipeg.

Phil Watson put Rangers in the lead in the first period on a pass from Kirby Macdonald and Clint Smith made it 2 to 0 in the second with Bryan Hextall making the play.

Americans fought back and tied the score in short order, Lorne Carr taking a pass from Wilf Field for the first and Charlie Conacher netting the equalizer with a blazing shot during an Americans' power play. Ten seconds before the second period ended Hextall stickhandled through alone for the winning goal.

BOSTON BRUINS WIN

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Playing with the speed and power that brought them the Stanley Cup last year, Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League defeated Hershey Bears of the International-American League 4 to 3 here Saturday night.

Roy Conacher, leading goal scorer of the National League last season, rammed home two goals in the first and another in the third period. Mel Hill of Saskatoon scored the other Boston goal.

Freddie announced his retirement "forever" after losing his title to Al Hostak of Seattle, via a first-round knockout here in the summer of 1933.

Fighting Revellers Beaten By Varsity

Local Stickmen Beat Visitors

Box lacrosse in Victoria is still in its infancy, three seasons old to be exact. But in that short time the city has developed some fine stickhandling material, as was illustrated Saturday night when Victoria All-stars scored a 31 to 25 victory over the more experienced Powell River Lions in an exhibition game.

The Riverites are present holders of the B.C. intermediate crown.

After two even quarters of fighting in which the score was tied up seven times, Victoria engineered a 10-goal blast in the third quarter to pave their way to a win.

Eight hundred persons turned out at the Willows Sports Centre to watch the exhibition. It was fast and rugged, with both teams displaying flashes of brilliant form at intervals.

At the end of the first quarter Victoria's stickmen, managed by Ted Menzies, had a 6 to 5 lead and they were out in front 15 to 12 at the half. In the third section the locals blasted the opposing defence into shambles and rapped in 10 goals compared to three returns to take a healthy lead.

In a desperate attempt to pull the fat out of the fire in the final stanza, Powell River boys really applied pressure and rifled in 10 markers, which would have tied the score tied had the Riverites been able to hold the locals scoreless. As it was Menzies' lads bagged six and finished the game with that margin of victory.

Brief scuffles between opposing players during the game drew lengthy penalties for four players. These were Victoria's Tom Carney and Ralph Baker and Hunter and Redhead of the Lions. Wally Williams and Jimmy Pickford accounted for six goals apiece for Victoria and Karl Ovcharek, Norm and Ralph Baker scored five apiece. Vanuchuk led the visiting scorers with six goals to his credit.

In a preliminary game, Foul Bay defeated Times Terriers, 11 to 10.

VICTORIA HORSES WIN MANY RIBBONS

Mrs. H. Hutson-Fisher's Hurrah Kate and R. "Bob" Shank's Chiquita made an impressive showing recently in Portland when they took part in the Pacific International Livestock Show, winning 10 ribbons out of the 11 events in which they were entered.

Some of the best show jumpers on the continent took part in the event. Most outstanding performance was made by Chiquita in winning the touch-and-go jumping competition. Three horses gained the final, Chiquita, Hurrah Kate and Footloose, owned by Miss Betty Eason, Portland. Chiquita was the only one that made a clean performance over the tight jumps.

The Canadian horses were given a warm reception by the spectators.

Local Grid Squad Folds At Finish

Victoria Revellers fell at the hands of University of British Columbia Thunderbirds, 23 to 10, at the Athletic Park Saturday, but they went down fighting in the best game that has been seen here so far.

The "Big Four" Canadian football league-leading Varsity grid-ders were up against a different Revellers' team than the last time they met, and for the first three quarters had plenty of troubles handed them by the locals.

But the Victoria squad still showed lack of experience and a weakness in the centre of the line, which were the main reasons for the 13-point defeat.

Time after time the college boys gained first downs on line plunges, through the centre. A couple of healthy forward pass interceptions paved the way for two of their scores in the final quarter and some fine blocked running plays helped a lot.

The Victoria line appeared to wait for the attacks rather than charge to meet them. The line nevertheless did some great blocking and interference work throughout the battle. Tackling was weak though.

EARLY SCORE

Victoria opened the scoring column on the first kick-off by Barber. The kick was long and low, landing in the Varsity end zone. Austin Frith took the kick but wasn't able to get away, with Bus Anderson nailing him for a rouge making the score for the locals, 1 to 0.

Varsity made it 6 to 1 within the next seven minutes of play. With the ball on the Revellers' 32-yard line, Graham Finlay completed a short forward pass to Jack Tucker. As the Revellers swooped down upon Tucker he lattered to Freddy Smith, who ran the rest of the distance for a touchdown. Jim Harmer kicked the extra point.

Just before the quarter ended Barber fumbled a Varsity kick and the Thunderbirds recovered on Victoria's 20 yard line. On an attempted place kick by the collegians, Barber was rouged by Tucker making the score 7 to 1 for the visitors.

A fumble by Jack Grogan in the opening minutes of the second period, was counteracted by Tom McKeachie's blocking of a Varsity kick and recovering on their 54 yard line. Then big Andy Boland, a new Revellers' player, came into the game. He let go a forward pass on his first play and Hank Rowe received, laterally to Barber who carried the ball to Vancouver's 20 yard line before being downed. Boland, on the next play, forwarded to Sid Anderson for a touchdown. Barber kicked the conversion, deadlocking the score at 7 to 7. The half ended.

SECOND HALF

Grogan put Victoria into the lead 10 to 7 after four minutes play in the second half. Don Garrison hooked a Varsity fumble and laterally to Ian Ackland who was downed on the Vancouver 24 yard line. Grogan kicked a field goal from this point for three markers.

Two 10-yard penalties against Victoria, one for being offside and

Norwegians Catch Millions of Fish Yearly

This week and next, I am going to tell facts about small countries of Europe. These countries have been "in the news" during recent weeks, and people have been wondering how many of them will keep their freedom.

This odd-looking building is an old-time Norwegian church, now in a park at Oslo.

Perhaps we should not call Norway a "small" country, since it contains 124,000 square miles of land, but it is small in population. Though it has a larger area than Great Britain, it is the home of only 2,800,000 people. In all Norway, there are not as many people as in the city of Chicago.

There was a time when Norway contained 30 little kingdoms. That was early in the Age of Vikings. In the year 872, a single man won power over the whole country. He is known in history as King Harold the Fairheaded.

A grandson of King Harold later held the throne, and was called Haakon the Good.

Another king, named Olaf, lived in the time of Leif Ericson. Olaf did a great deal to turn Norway into a Christian country. Now he is known as St. Olaf, the patron saint of Norway.

In 1397, Norway joined Sweden and Denmark in a union of the three countries. Their ruler was Queen Margaret of Denmark.

Sweden left the Union 125 years later, but Norway and Denmark were united for more than four centuries. They did not part company until after the war of Napoleon. Then Norway was "handed over" to Sweden by a treaty of peace.

In 1905 Norway declared her independence from Sweden. We have good reason to honor Sweden for agreeing to the change peacefully. The rulers of Sweden were sorry to lose Norway, but felt that the Norwegians had the right to decide the question for themselves.

Most people in Norway live on or near the seacoast. Fishing is an important industry, and Norwegian fishermen haul in an average of a million tons of fish each year.

Forests give the country wealth, and lumber is exported in large amounts. Norway has ranked from fourth to sixth among the world's countries in the size of her merchant marine. Sad to say, submarines have proved a great danger to her ships in time of war. During the World War, German submarines and mines sank 831 Norwegian vessels. In the first few weeks of the 1939 war, submarines began sinking Norwegian vessels, as well as those of Sweden, Denmark and other nations.

HOROSCOPE

Tuesday, October 24

Mixed planetary aspects are discerned in the horoscope for today. Benefic influences rule strongly in the early morning and late afternoon. It is a fortunate date for women, who should push what has been carefully planned but should avoid making new decisions, since their judgment may not be trustworthy under this way.

Romance should flourish under this direction of the stars, but the heart may rule the head. Hasty engagements and ill-considered marriages are numerous under this planetary government. There may be more sentiment than common sense in human relations today. Fairly good luck, however, is indicated for weddings, but brides may be allergic to housework.

There is a sign threatening to commerce. Storms at sea may be expected. Exports may be held up, owing to difficulties which may be due to misapprehensions that can be overcome if honest efforts are made. Merchants will profit today. There should be much buying in the afternoon. There is a good sign for the launching of new enterprises. Contracts signed under this direction of the stars should be fortunate. Lawyers will benefit.

A treaty or an agreement with a foreign power will be signed shortly by the United States, and relations with Canada will be helpful. Jupiter is in an aspect promising to progress.

Australia and New Zealand come under benefic rule of the stars and should benefit through agriculture. Trade in foodstuffs will gain in importance. In the Antipodes as well as in England and the United States mortality among men of distinction will be heavy.

Persons whose birthdate it is should avoid dealings with strangers. There will be much sharp practice within business and social orbits. The health should be watched and extreme exercise should be given up. Children born on this day probably will be clever, original and intuitive. These subjects of Scorpio are usually humane, affectionate and trustworthy.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a young man of 22 and I have recently broken my engagement to a girl of 15 whom I never loved, but whom my mother wanted me to marry. I am in love with a married woman a year older than myself who has a little girl, and we hope to marry as soon as she gets her divorce, but my mother objects and says she will disown me if I marry this woman. Has my mother the right to rob me of the happiness of life because she does not want me to marry this divorced woman? What shall I do?

ANSWER: Wait a year or two until you have time to test out your affection for this married woman, and see if what you feel for her is real love or just a boy's infatuation for a woman older than himself. Also, wait until you are in a position financially to take on the support of a ready-made family. The salaries of most boys just starting out in business don't permit such luxuries.

Anyway, your Lady Love hasn't got her divorce yet, and perhaps by the time she does she may not look as good to you as she does now. Boys' tastes change, you know. And I would certainly suggest to you that while you are waiting that you go around with some nice young girls in your own age class and see if you don't find them more congenial, after all, than your married friend.

Don't quarrel with your mother. She has only your interest at heart, and if you will just give her time to get used to the thought of this marriage and she really sees that your happiness is involved in it, she will give in. Her objection now is that she thinks you are too young to know your own mind. DOROTHY DIX.

Red Cross Meets Ready Response

"Great care is being taken to price correctly the articles which are being received for sale at the Red Cross Superstudies Store," officials of the organization point out.

The store at 1220 Government Street has shown good progress since its opening at the beginning of October. Since that time nearly $1,000 in cash and goods of an inventory value estimated at $2,000 have been donated.

The store could be described as a departmental store of used goods, but many of these are equal to, and in cases of genuine antiques, superior to value of new ones, although all articles are reasonably priced and the prices checked and rechecked by outside experts.

Much assistance has been given by volunteer car owners who collect articles for the store from citizens who are not able to take their contributions to the store of its branch stations. Girl Guides of the city have also helped a great deal in this phase of the work.

Steamship companies are co-operating in the work, officials said. Donations from towns on the coast at which their ships call, will be brought to Victoria by the companies. Arrangements were under way to organize receiving stations for articles for the store on Salt Spring Island and many other islands and bays around the coastline of British Columbia.

A competition has been arranged, with three prizes, for the best dressed dolls, dressed as Red Cross nurses, which will close on November 30. The dolls will be judged and sold at a Christmas tree on that date. Further particulars will be announced later.

One donation to the store during the last week was 100 Christmas cards which will be placed on sale. Other card donations are expected.

Hospitals Will Need Assistance

"Our voluntary hospitals will need more assistance as time goes on. If prices and wages continue to rise they will need more assistance than ever before," said Dr. G. Harvey Agnew of Toronto, president of the American Hospital Association and secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Hospital Council, when addressing the 22nd annual convention of the B.C. Hospital Association at luncheon today.

The delegates were guests of the women's auxiliary and the Sister Superior of St. Joseph's Hospital at the Nurses' Home of the hospital.

"At a time like this, when our provincial governments are naturally curtailing every ordinary expense to permit more funds for war work, we must constantly emphasize that government and municipal assistance to our hospitals be materially increased, rather than suffer any reduction," he said.

"While our hospitals are not required to make the same drastic reduction as the hospitals of Great Britain, we have our own problems, and they are serious enough. Already our hospitals have found costs mounting to an alarming rate. Not only are costs steadily rising, but there is a distinct shortage of various commodities and supplies."

"Coupled with this increased cost is an associated loss in income. How serious this will be is still too premature to hazard a prophecy. We do know many people have instinctively reduced their expenditures and contributions with the outbreak of war. A semi-private room will do instead of a private one."

Dr. Agnew said that while he was sure, all hospital administrators and trustees were desirous of helping the government in every way possible at the present time, there was no particular reason why voluntary hospitals should extend charity to patients for whom the government was responsible. All the hospitals asked was cost, which he said was a very modest ambition when compared with that of others who did business with government.

ACCOMMODATION TAXED

"Of one thing we can be certain—there will be no let-up in the demands upon our services for the civilian population," Dr. Agnew said. "Actually there is a steady increase in demand now upon our hospital facilities. New construction is likely to be curtailed heavily during the war; therefore, entirely apart from any military demands upon our space, we are likely to find our existing accommodations exceedingly well taxed for the next few years."

"There can be no let up. Not only must our hospitals carry on under the various handicaps already mentioned, but we must be prepared for any emergency which may arise. We are told that it is not beyond realms of possibility that some of our cities near the coast, particularly in the east, may be subjected to sporadic air raids. While the likelihood of extensive damage is not great, hospitals in those areas must give thought to the necessity of making provision for such a contingency."

"Obviously, come what may, there can never be any 'blackout' for our hospitals."

Staff Picked For Session

Appointment of the staff for the coming session of the provincial legislature was announced today. There are few important changes in the senior officials from last year.

Crossed Bridge While Rising

In the Jubilee Hospital today Mrs. Margaret C. Lee-Warner, 834 Selkirk Avenue, was resting with a fractured vertebrae as the result of an accident, Saturday afternoon on the Johnson Street bridge which might have had more serious consequences for her and her daughter, Theresa.

Miss Lee-Warner reported to city police she and her mother were trapped in their car on the Johnson Street bridge as it was being raised for a ship and were forced to leap the car from the bridge to the west approach when the bridge was about two feet above the approach. The impact caused Mrs. Lee-Warner's injury.

The accident occurred shortly after 3 as the bridge operators were changing shift.

Police who investigated the report were told that Robert Ford, an operator, was relieving his fellow-operator, Arthur Fraser at the time.

As they were changing over, a boat whistled to go under the bridge. Fraser started to raise the bridge while Ford watched the approaches. He said he saw the barrier go down behind the car as the bridge started up.

Police said it had not been for Miss Lee-Warner's presence of mind to keep driving toward the other end the accident might have had dire consequences as there would not have been time to return to the east end before the bridge reached a precarious angle.

HOSPITAL SUPPLIES ARE UNOBTAINABLE

The B.C. Provincial Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society has discussed the delay in the production of necessary hospital supplies and the difficulties which at the moment are being encountered.

The divisional Red Cross purchasing agent has a standing order for materials with wholesale houses, and is in communication with factories in the east. He reports the entire Australian wool-crop has been purchased by the British government, and the rush of orders at all Canadian factories is so great that no new orders can be accepted before March next. The purchasing agent has confirmed his attention to wholesale supplies and his report does not refer to retail supplies still on hand within the province. However, he is of the opinion that these supplies are rapidly dwindling and will soon disappear. Under these conditions it is necessary to ration supplies and the materials on hand are being apportioned according to the size of the branch.

CITY NEARING TAX OBJECTIVE

With two months still to go, Victoria has approximately 2.5 per cent of its current taxes or $38,500 to collect to meet the objective set by the council when it listed revenue for 1939.

Collections were estimated at $2,674 per cent of the levy. Today figures released by the assessor-collector's department showed approximately 80 per cent had been paid.

The anticipated reduction in actual cash returns, inevitable owing to the fall in levy through lower assessments and tax rate, was indicated in a comparison with last year's totals, but percentages were favorable to 1939.

Cities Shelve Differences During War

The Union of British Columbia Municipalities, meeting at its delayed annual convention here, will avoid any action that might embarrass the provincial and federal governments in view of the war emergencies.

The resolutions committee, at its opening session in the City Hall this morning, killed the only move of a prejudicial nature that came before it. In all 24 were considered, the majority being referred to the general convention scheduled to open at 10 tomorrow. Some were sent to special committees before being brought forward at the open sessions.

Taking the position the committee's actions should be reported to the convention itself before being released to the public, Mayor O. L. Jones, Kelowna, committee chairman, declared the meeting closed to the press. No description was given of the resolution which was quashed.

"We are not touching anything that might embarrass the provincial or federal governments in their present war emergencies," R. R. F. Sewell, secretary of the Union, stated.

Following the luncheon adjournment the committee was scheduled to return to its perusal of motions submitted by the member municipalities. Consideration of proposals must be completed for the opening of the general convention at 10 tomorrow morning.

In all 32 members attended the committee session. Approximately 125, the usual number, are expected to take in the open meetings.

The entertainment program, subject to revision today and tomorrow, has been drastically curtailed from the original set-up for the convention at Harrison.

The feature social attraction will be the annual banquet at the Empress Hotel Wednesday evening. New Westminster, as host city, will sponsor the event, over which Mayor Fred Hume will preside.

The main purpose of the sessions here, Mr. Sewell explained, was to iron out certain ambiguities occurring in the Municipal Act and to settle various definitions over which municipalities have been puzzled in the past.

It was understood the latter would include a more definite enunciation of the phrase British subject as it is used in municipal life.

During this morning's sessions the committee made satisfactory progress, it was stated, but failed to reach the Victoria resolutions included in the agenda.

WAR MAKES CANADA ECONOMIC POWER

VANCOUVER (CP)—The second world war has made Canada a great economic power and will in future cause great changes in its social, economic and political life, according to Bruce Hutchison, journalist.

Speaking to the Vancouver Institute here Saturday, Mr. Hutchison said:

"Canada is no longer a small nation of 11,000,000 people but has become by the sudden impact of the war a vital link in the whole Allied war effort and in an economic sense one of the powerful nations of the world."

"The fulcrum of our civilization has shifted from the old world to

Preventive Work Important-Weir

"In Canada there is comparative illiteracy in the field of preventive work—Canadians are somewhat inconsistent in their health outlook; they will aid the crippled and the sick, but it is difficult to get them to contribute towards the prevention of the causes," said Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, when speaking to the opening meeting of the 22nd annual convention of the B.C. Hospitals Association at the Empress Hotel this morning.

Dr. Weir said the expenditure in Canada on health services was approximately $350,000,000 a year, yet of this only between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000 went to preventive work.

Here you see the comparative illiteracy," he said.

"One of the duties of this association is to educate public opinion on the great need of the prevention of disease."

BROADER VIEWPOINT

Dr. Weir urged members of the association to take a broader, social-minded point of view, the more human outlook, in their discussions. The point of view, he said, should be broader than municipal or even provincial, it should be humanitarian.

"I think one result of the war will be a broad federal point of view as far as health is concerned," he said. "It usually takes some great upheaval to join us out of our complacency. I believe this war will mobilize us and enable us to put into effect many of the things we've been talking about for so long."

Dr. Weir said he favored more government support for health in this country.

"But a more enlightened public opinion is necessary to get this," he said.

WELCOME BY MAYOR

Mayor McGavin welcomed the delegates to Victoria. With the world in arms, he said, there was no telling what the hospitals of British Columbia would be called upon to do. He felt sure they would be equal to any situation, and he hoped the convention would be of benefit to all.

E. S. Withers, New Westminster, president of the association, was in the chair and led the morning's discussions. The convention stood in tribute to the memory of the late Dr. H. C. Winch, former president of the association. Dean Spencer Elliott opened the convention with prayer.

Oliver Phillips, Vancouver, acting secretary, told the convention the question of hospital contracts had been one of the major activities of the last year.

The Canadian Hospital Association, he said, was on record as being opposed to hospitals accepting contracts at less than cost. It was pointed out one hospital worked against another in securing favorable contracts.

He told of a conference of hospitals in the Greater Vancouver area which has satisfactory results for all. Definite charges were set and all had benefited.

Local delegates contributing to the discussion were Alderman John A. Worthington and C. S. Henley of the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Mrs. Rex Eaton, member of the Board of Industrial Relations, addressed the convention on "Hospitals From a Woman's Viewpoint."

Suspensions Lifted

The Liquor Control Board has lifted the suspension of licenses of three clubs and three beer parlors in Vancouver, W. F. Kennedy, chairman, said today following his return from Vancouver.

Mr. Kennedy said he discussed the suspension with the license holders and was satisfied that alleged breaches of the regulations will be eliminated.

The licenses were suspended October 12. The licenses suspended were the Irish Canadian Club, the Pacific Athletic Club and the Quadra Club.

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Police are attempting to determine the identity of a woman, lying in hospital here an apparent amnesia victim.

She wandered into a house Saturday night, said she did not know her identity, where she was or how she got there.

She speaks with an English accent and was well dressed. She is about 40 years old, of medium height, weighs about 135 pounds.

Following a custom inaugurated several years ago, the annual graduation tea was held on Friday afternoon at Quadra School, with 50 pupils, parents and friends present. The tables were prettily decorated in school colors, purple and white. Refreshments were served by the social committee.

Oil Patch May Be Lost Packer

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—British Columbia Police today searched the depths of the Strait of Georgia north of here for trace of a missing fishpacker and its crew of three.

Two police boats from Campbell River started dragging operations off Cape Mudge, where a fresh-appearing oil patch on the waters led them to believe the Carlisle No. 4 foundered last week while en route to Vancouver with a cargo of fish.

It was off Cape Mudge that the fishpacker, with Capt. J. C. Sparling, Port Haney; Peter Moore, Port Washington, Pender Island, and W. Morrison, Vancouver, was last seen late Thursday night, apparently in trouble as a 40-mile-an-hour gale whipped up the waters of the strait.

Const. M. N. McAlpine left this morning to take charge of the dragging operations about three miles south of the cape where yesterday located the oil patch after the two police boats and a dozen fishing craft traced and retraced the route of the Carlisle since it had left Granite Bay, farther north.

He said the oil bubbles indicated the source was fresh; if the oil were seepage from a vessel sunk some time ago it would appear smooth on the surface.

First word the Carlisle might have met with difficulty was received by police here when Capt. B. Akerman telegraphed from Bliss Landing.

Captain Akerman said he and Captain Sparling left Granite Bay Thursday evening for Vancouver but that he lost the other boat off Cape Mudge when the gale whipped up from the southwest and cut down visibility.

He said he thought he heard the Carlisle whistle for aid but because of steering difficulty on his own vessel he was unable to turn back into the heavy weather. Instead, he put into Bliss Landing, 20 miles across the strait, and immediately advised police.

The Carlisle was owned by the Canadian Fishing Co. of Vancouver, which also operates Captain Akerman's craft, the Elva M, and a fleet of other fishing vessels in British Columbia waters.

During yesterday's search of the strait four of the company's vessels, the Carlisle No. 3, Stevenson No. 2, Mamro and the Essential joined the police boats and eight fishing craft from Johnstone Strait.

Easy Way to Relieve Piles

All pile sufferers should be taught to understand that piles are generally caused by constipation. Dr. J. A. Leonard found this out after years of study. He also found out that to get satisfying relief from piles, the internal congestion should be treated, so he worked out a prescription to be used internally.

The use of Hem-Roid is a very effective, easy and pleasant way to treat piles. You may have your money back if it doesn't help you and you can generally see definite results the first day.

Hem-Roid, which may be had at MacFarlane and Cunningham Drug Store, or any other drug store, has been successful in hundreds of cases and is so successful generally, anyone suffering with piles may give Hem-Roid a trial, without cost, if the results from the first bottle are not satisfactory.

Columbia Features Khyber Pass Drama

The motion picture unit which invaded the treacherous Khyber Pass to film natural color scenes for Alexander Korda's "Drums," the attraction at the Columbia Theatre, was the first to penetrate this remote corner of India.

As a matter of fact, the expedition was the most dangerous ever undertaken by a motion picture company.

"Drums" features Sabu, Raymond-Massey, Roger Livesey, Desmond Tester and Valerie Hobson.

Mars was only 36,000,000 miles from the earth in July, and will not be that close again until 1955.

SIDE GLANCES By Galbraith

NEW YORK (AP)—Heading into the last week-end of October, traditionally the middle of the United States football season, those major teams that have managed to escape the plague of upsets finally have begun to line up in something like an orderly manner.

Considering only those which have obviously earned the rating of "major" teams, they line up something like this.

Undeclared and untied teams: East, Duquesne, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Catholic University; south Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi; mid-west, Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State; southwest, Texas A. and M.; Rocky Mountains, Colorado Mines; Pacific Coast, Oregon State.

Undeclared but tied: East, Dartmouth, Georgetown, Rutgers; south, Tulane, North Carolina, Richmond; mid-west, Nebraska, Oklahoma; Rocky Mountains, Utah; Pacific Coast, Southern California, University of California at Los Angeles, Santa Clara (tied twice).

Oregon State in Select Grid List

NEW YORK (AP)—Heading into the last week-end of October, traditionally the middle of the United States football season, those major teams that have managed to escape the plague of upsets finally have begun to line up in something like an orderly manner.

Considering only those which have obviously earned the rating of "major" teams, they line up something like this.

Undeclared and untied teams: East, Duquesne, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Catholic University; south Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi; mid-west, Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State; southwest, Texas A. and M.; Rocky Mountains, Colorado Mines; Pacific Coast, Oregon State.

Undeclared but tied: East, Dartmouth, Georgetown, Rutgers; south, Tulane, North Carolina, Richmond; mid-west, Nebraska, Oklahoma; Rocky Mountains, Utah; Pacific Coast, Southern California, University of California at Los Angeles, Santa Clara (tied twice).

Beaux-Arts Planning Winter Activities

The Halloween party to be held by the Beaux-Arts Society, in the clubrooms, Leighton Road, and Duchesne Street, on October 31, the informal studio party planned at the new studio of E. Savannah shortly, and arrangements for the annual snow ball on Boxing Day, December 26, at the Empress Hotel, were discussed at the general business meeting of the Beaux-Arts Society, held Friday evening in the clubrooms.

Mr. Savannah presided and gave a synopsis of the activities and programs arranged until the end of the year. Over 30 new members were welcomed and entered into the discussions during the business meeting. It was announced that the society anticipates producing at least one play in aid of war work. Owing to the society not employing a director this year, the dues have been cut in half. As a result of this, amateurs will have more opportunity of taking part in the activities and dramatics.

Cedric Lefevre was named general convenor for the Halloween party.

CAPITOL THEATRE

A new motion picture star, possessing a remarkable singing voice and a personality at once warm and refreshing, appears in Universal's "The Under-Pup" now at the Capitol Theatre.

She is Gloria Jean, an 11-year-old whose coloratura voice and natural appeal dominate a picture replete with romantic comedy and a musical "surprise." Presented by Producer Joe Pasternak, the man who also introduced Deanna Durbin, Gloria will undoubtedly be compared to her stellar predecessor yet she has a personality all her own.

Geoffrey Toye, associated with D'Oyly Carte, was responsible for the adaptation, and personally conducted the London Symphony Orchestra and augmented chorus of the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company, who recorded the vocal numbers.

Melvyn Douglas and Joan Blondell star in Columbia's "Good Girls Go to Paris," now at the Atlas Theatre.

The film is said to be a frantic, romantic laughing feature from start to finish, with Walter Connolly, Alan Curtis, Joan Perry and Isabel Jeans heading the large supporting cast.

the other for failing on two successive forward passes, but the Thunderbirds into the scoring way.

On a third down Varsity kicked to Victoria's five yard line and Boland missed the return kick from this point, the ball going practically straight up in the air.

Lang hooked the ball and fell across the line making the score 12-10 for the mainland squad.

They failed to convert and the third quarter ended soon after.

Varsity opened the final quarter with a series of line barrages that gained them plenty of yardage.

Varsity went to work on the line again and gained a first down on Victoria's 26 yard line.

Martin carried the ball on a right end run for the first down on the 15 yard line and Andy Lang went around the left end to put the ball on the locals' five yard line.

Tommy Williams went around the right end again, this time for a touchdown. The conversion was missed, leaving the score at 17 to 10.

Teagle intercepted a forward pass from Boland meant for Brent Murdoch and ran the ball to Victoria's 46 yard line.

Varsity gained through the line and running plays and from the 25 yard line, Lang intercepted another forward pass, running the distance for a touch.
